Bay Has First August Thunder In Many Years

THINGS were booming above Oakland skyline early today. One of the strangest meteorological freaks within the memory of the Weather Man occurred in the bay district. It was the first time in many years that there has been a thunder shower in this section in August.

A freak downfall of rain followed the peals of thunder and those who have come here from the East to live were reminded of home.

It was an unexpected situation for the employees in charge of the electric lines, but no damage of any consequence was done by the storm.

Reserve employees were held in readiness by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company and the Great Western Power Company in case of emergency. According to the Great Western Power Company, the storm extended along its lines for a considerable distance into the interior.

According to U. S. Forecaster E. A. Beals, the storm, which occurred at 7 a. m., was the result of the hot weather over the week end. People all over the bay district were awakened by the thunder. Later in the morning there was a brisk shower while the sun was shining.

The weather forecast for tonight and tomorrow is fair conditions in the bay cities with unsettled weather in Northern California and cloudy or foggy near the coast.

POINCARE WARNS GERMANY TO PAY

French Premier Says Ruhr Policy Based on Berlin Threats in 1871.

CHASSEY-BEAUPRE, France, Aug. 27.—(By Associated Press.)—Premier Poincare, in an address here yesterday, served notice on Germany that she must make a heroic effort to pay reparations, just as France did in 1871. The address was delivered at the dedication of a monument to the war dead. In it the premier told Germany not to look for any reduction in her reparations debt.

"What we did fifty-three years ago," said M. Poincare, "they can try to do now. If they do not try to do it they will compel us to enforce against them the menace they made then, 'pay us or we remain.'

"France," continued M. Poincare, "had to pay 5,000,000,000 francs, which was an enormous sum then. He told how the country had raised other billions to pay the expenses of the war simply by getting to work. He added that the French payments could be proved, while, as for the German Chancellor Stresemann's assertions regarding Germany's payments, he declared it is vain to pretend that Germany already has paid 43,000,000,000 gold marks or even 25 billions as was said by an economic institute of Washington, which has been impossible for me to identify and which is not listed in the Congressional Directory on the official year book of the federal capital."

GERMANY'S PAST THREATS USED TO JUSTIFY POLICY.

"Germany made no mystery of her intentions during the hostilities, he declared.

"Several times she unmasked her war aims, and up to the day she felt her hopes vanish, she always planned to crush us forever.

"The other allies," continued M. Poincare, "would not have fared better than France."

"On the other side of the Atlantic," he said, "the United States momentarily, perhaps, would have been shielded from the consequences of a Germanic victory; but they could not long have remained indifferent to the creation of a colossal power which had become the real sovereign of Europe and ready to throw its tentacles around the globe, for civilization would have been shaken, and Germany would have gained political, commercial and intellectual supremacy

VETERANS OF STATE FIGHT BONUS PLAN

(Special to The TRIBUNE)

Eureka, Cal., Aug. 27.—The fifth annual convention of the American Legion opened here today with 1118 delegates present and nearly 2000 mothers and wives attending the auxiliary gathering. Eureka is pressed for accommodations, with 2500 beds available and many more needed.

Speakers before the convention included Senator Shortridge, Irvin T. Quinn and commanders of various veteran organizations.

A fight looms on the State Veterans' Bureau. Charges are made that from the $10,000,000 bond issue voted by the people only 2000 veterans can be provided due to the oversight of the men who drafter the bill. How to provide homes for the rest of the 15,000 applicants is the problem at issue.

COMMITTEE TO TAKE UP STADIUM SQUABBLE.

A fight on the memorial stadium at the University of California is to be taken up in committee and will not come before the convention.

There are four candidates in the field for state commander. They are James Collins, Long Beach; Dailly Stafford, Covina; Phil Dodson, South Pasadena and Bruce McDaniels of Redlands. The two candidates for senior vice-commander are Dr. John Slavich of Oakland and George P. Miller of San Francisco.

The convention of the "Forty and Eight" is being held in connection with the American Legion convention, as usual.

Oakland delegates to the American Legion convention include: Walter Frickstad, Floyd Tower, Stewart Bowes, Irving Hazeltine, A. W. Chase, Will F. Foss, Harry A. Nelson, Harold D. Weer, Victor Medgila, Jack Collier, J. G. Burch, Fred A. Ellis, Fred B. Mellmann, H. W. Roth, W. T. Hopkins, Waldo Colby, Anson Purches, Harold Nold, Dr. John F. Slavich, Seth T. Bailey and M. Friedman.

ALAMEDA COUNTY MEN WELL REPRESENTED.

The list of Alameda county delegates includes the following: Don McClure and Ralph M. Smith, of Argonne Post of Oakland; T. M. Robinson, Jos. L. Falner, J. P. Brennan, A. O. Donogh, James K. Fisk, E. M. Jaffa, E. G. Terry, Blake Vanleer, of Berkeley Post; D. W. Pierson, W. C. Trobee, M. I. Dohner of Hayward Post; Dr. Morris Carter, G. O. Smallcomb, M. R. Henry, A. Carlsono, J. Ruess, of Livermore Post; J. C. Beacock, Henry Lanini, A. J. Hansen, Pleasanton Post; Delbert Wiedmaier, Dr. A. Swasey, Dr. E. C. Rogers, San Leandro Post; W. Martenstein, Washington Township Post.

Seth Millington, state commander, opened the convention at 9:30 today. Rev. F. B. Clyne, state chaplain, made the opening prayer.

Amateur Cracksman Taps Theater Safe

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—An amateur cracksman worked long and tedious hours for small reward today when he broke into the Francisco theater, Market and Seventh streets, and drilled the safe, obtaining only $12 which had been left for early change today.

Entrance to the theater was gained through one of the exit doors and the outer door of the safe was found open. The combination had not been set. In order to gain entrance to the inner compartment, the burglar used crude methods and the police estimated that it took him four or five hours to complete the job.

The theater deposits the receipts in the vaults of a nearby bank each night.

S. F. Railroad Agent Takes His Own Life

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—After sending a special delivery letter to his wife in which he declared himself tired of life, F. W. Elder, 47, general agent of the Gulf Coast railroad, went to his office in the Monadnock building and took poison. His body was found last night by Walter Harrison, a brother of Mrs. Elder.

The Elder home is at 1812 Balboa street. The wife said that Elder had been ill for several months. He came to San Francisco from Chicago about four years ago.

COAL STRIKE PROHIBITED BY PINCHOT

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 27.—Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, assembled leaders of each side in the anthracite controversy around his office table today and told them bluntly that the proposed suspension of mining September 1, could not be allowed.

"The thing is possible, he said, in declaring the purpose to stop hostilities. "It must be done."

Impassively the men gathered around his council table listened to his words. They were Samuel D. Warriner, A. B. Jessup, F. W. Ingils and W. J. Richards of the operators policy committee and Philip Murray, vice-president and C. J. Golden, Rinaldo Cappellini, and Thomas Kennedy, district presidents of the United Mine Workers, whose orders are out for closing down the mines September 1.

There was scarcely a sound to interrupt the governor as he read his address.

"In my opinion, the wisest thing I can do is to deal separately with each side," he said, "to learn the basis for demands as fully as I can. I request you to give me these interviews."

REQUEST ACCEPTED ON BOTH SIDES.

"We'll be very glad to grant your request," Warriner responded at the close of the appeal.

"The miners will also," Murray said.

"Thank you gentlemen," Governor Pinchot rejoined. "We'll adjourn then to this afternoon when the miners will come to my private office."

All of the members of the miners full scale committee were assembled in the city to counsel with the union officers. Scale committee members said they had been notified by the official group to be on hand. The significance of their presence lay in the fact that the scale committee when duly assembled, has power to recall the work suspension notices which were issued Saturday at Atlantic City after negotiations between the Union chiefs and the operators' representatives had been broken office.

PUBLIC DECLARED PARTY TO QUARREL.

The governor's address follows in part:

This controversy between the miners and the operators of the anthracite field is not a private quarrel. The general public, as well as the rights of the two other parties, must be represented and recognized. A shortage of anthracite means not only a huge loss of profits to the operators—not only a huge loss of wage to the miners — but it means also loss of health among millions of American families, loss of comfort, of working power and of time.

Anthracite is burned in the homes of the people. A strike or suspension such as now threatens is a public calamity, and as such every reasonable public means must be used to prevent it.

The interest of the public mind in the settlement of this controversy is double. In the first place the public wants it settled. It is utterly wrong that the people should be called upon again to bear the enormous and most oppressive burden of a shortage of anthracite coal.

IMPARTIAN JUSTICE BASIS OF SETTLEMENT.

In the second place, the public wants it settled on terms of even-handed justice. The right of the public to intervent carries with it the clear responsibility to see that impartial justice is done to both sides. In its desire to be served the public cannot afford to accept any settlement that is based upon anything else than justice. Furthermore, an unjust settlement cannot last. The people believe and are right in believing that the dullness which comes from one coal shortage after another are intolerable.

The country is just now entering upon a period of prosperity after a prolonged depression. The closing down of the anthracite mines would tend to undermine the confidence essential to a continuance of this prosperity.

Boys Burn Too Pals At Stake, Playing Indian

Two Youths Jailed When "Captives" Die of Burns in Game.

SPRING LAKE, N. J., Aug. 27.—Play turned into stark tragedy early today when Charles Spindler, 11, and William Hubbard, 16, died after being virtually roasted alive.

Dick Forman, 16, and Taylor Hubbard, 18, brother of William, are held in jail pending investigation.

During play, which included the game of Indian, Spindler and Hubbard were tied to a tree by the older boys, police say. Excelsior was piled around the youngsters. A match was applied to the pile. But instead of the excelsior burning itself out quickly, oil-soaked ground around the tree sprang into flame.

Unable to break through the wall of fire, the older boys ran for help while the two victims shrieked in agony. Spindler and Hubbard were charred and unconscious when dragged from the burning round, where they had fallen when the ropes that held them to the tree gave way.

At a Spring Lake hospital they returned to consciousness for a few minutes.

"They set fire to us," was all they told police just before they died.

They would give no names and steadfastly refused to reveal any information which might get their companions in trouble. The lads died 7 minutes apart.

RUNAWAY AUTO SMASHES WALL

Berkeley Man Badly Injured By Impact and Score of Workers Menaced.

BERKELEY, Aug. 27.—E. W. Lukes, 1606 Oxford street, was perhaps fatally injured and a score of workmen had a narrow escape for injury when a heavy touring automobile which had been parked on a sidehill on Hearst avenue ran away this morning and crashed into a wall which the men were building at Hearst and Euclid avenues.

Coming down the hill at a speed of about 40 miles an hour the driverless automobile struck the concrete wall and then veered in the direction of the workmen. All of the men managed to get clear of the automobile except Lukes, who was found beneath the car when it again crashed into the wall and stopped. At the Berkeley General hospital it was determined that Lukes had suffered several broken ribs, a crushed chest and internal injuries. His condition was pronounced critical.

The automobile belonged to Miss Janness Hudson, a junior student of the University of California registered from Fresno. She lives at the Phi Omega Pi sorority house, 2427 Channing way.

The police said they would interview Miss Hudson to determine if she knew of any fault in the brakes of the car when she parked it on the hillside. They also are conducting an investigation to determine whether or not anyone had been tampering with the machine in any way so that it could have started down the hill.

Lukes is an employee of the city street department. He was overseeing the stret improvment work on Hearst avenue when the accident occurred.

Bride of Seattle Lawyer Kills Self

SEATTLE, Aug. 27.—Mrs. Violette Adelia White, two months ago married to Crawford White, prominent Seattle lawyer and state president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, committed suicide here yesterday at the family home by shooting herself in the head with a pistol.

The Whites were married at Anacortes, Wash., June 12, during the meeting of the state aerie of Eagles. The couple afterwards went on a honeymoon trip through the east. Mrs. White suffered severely from the extreme heat during this trip and ill health resulting from this suffering affected her mental condition. White believes

MACHINE GUN BATTLE AT IRISH POLLS

DUBLIN, Aug. 27.—(By Associated Press.)—A motor car carrying James Crowley and the minister of fisheries, Finian Lynch, both of whom are candidates of the government party for Kerry, was attacked by a crowd while passing through Liniaw yesterday. Shots were fired and one young man was seriously injured.

By DANIEL O'CONNELL
(International News Service Staff Correspondent.)

DUBLIN, Aug. 27.—Firing broke out here today in connection with the general election in the Irish Free State. Volleys became heavy and Free State troops responded by turning machine guns loose against the buildings where the sharpshooters were hidden.

Although it was the noisiest battle in months, no casualties were reported. President William T. Cosgrave of the Dail disclosed that the Republicans had ordered him kidnaped, evidently in reprisal for the arrest of Eamonn de Valera.

The early polling proved heavier than expected. Many old women stood in line outside the booths. The results probably will be announced Wednesday night.

Free State leaders said they expected to win at least 65 of the 153 Dail Eireann seats.

Police and civic guards were on duty throughout the country. Registered voters numbered 1,800,000.

Detectives were stationed at the 4500 polling places to prevent fraud.

Leaders of the republicans admitted that they could not gain control of the Dail, but said they would keep up the fight. It was predicted that the farmers would obtain 44 seats, labor 25 and that the Republicans and Independents would get about 19 seats between them.

Owing to the system of proportional representation, it was conceded that Eamonn de Valera, chief leader of the Republicans, who is now in prison, would be elected to the Dail in County Clare, but it is doubtful if he will be allowed to take his seat.

There are many women candidates, including Mary MacSwiney, sister of the late lord mayor of Cork, who died on hunger strike in an English prison, and the Countess Markiewicz.

Hundreds Flee From Rio Grande Floods

EL PASO, Texas, Aug. 27.—With two rises in the Rio Grande due late today, according to a forecast by the United States reclamation service, several hundred more persons today were fleeting from their homes near the lowlands of Juarez, where 200 were driven out Friday night.

The refugees are housed temporarily in two school buildings, where bread lines and soup kitchens have been established by the Mexican Blue Cross.

Higher water will force them from these two buildings, which already are almost surrounded by water and refuse. They probably will be taken to the stables and betting quarters of the Juarez race track four miles from town.

It is estimated that nearly 1000 small Mexican houses have been damaged by the flood. Many of them caved in, being made of adobe, while roofs and walls of others crumbled. Water two feet deep is standing in hundreds of houses.

A heavy rain last night added to the misery.

Rain Causes Wreck; Engineer Is Killed

SUNMAN, Ind., Aug. 27.—(International News Service.)—Train No. 13 of the Baltimore & Ohio railway, an express bound from New York for Chicago, was wrecked here early today when it ran into a washout. The locomotive and fifteen cars left the rails. The engineer, J. Lovenger, of Garrett, Ind., was killed. The track had been washed out for ten rail lengths. The locomotive was overturned. The wreckage was strewn over all four rails of the double track line, tying up traffic in both directions.

100-Mile Crawler

DR. J. T. HOUSE, professor of literature at the Nebraska State Normal School, who is to make a 100-mile crawl on his hands and one knee, the other being so tied up that he cannot use it. While on the trip, he will live on berries, roots, field mice, and include a dog which he will kill, cook in its own skin, and eat. Prof. House merely wants to prove he can duplicate the feat of Hugh Glass, a famous old trapper who was forced to crawl 100 miles on one knee after his leg had been broken in a fight with a grizzly bear.—Photo by Underwood & Underwood, New York.

ENDURANCE PLANE GETS FUEL IN AIR

Two Deliveries of Gasoline and Cushion Made to Fliers in Test.

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 27.—(By United Press.)—Lieutenants Seifert and Hines made three perfect contacts with the record-attempting plane flight shortly after 10 a. m. Captain Smith and Lieutenant Richter called for a cushion, which was quickly delivered, followed by two deliveries of gasoline, totaling 90 gallons. Forty-five gallons was delivered at each contact, taking about 2 minutes each.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 27.—Captain Lowell H. Smith and Lieutenant John P. Richter today began their third attempt to establish world's records for endurance, distance and speed above the 2500 kilometer mark in a big de Haviland plane.

After a good night's rest the fliers took off this morning at 5 o'clock and started their long grind, circling the city on a 50-kilometer course. It is their intention to remain aloft for 50 hours, during which time they will take aboard fuel, lubricating oil, water and food from two refueling planes piloted by Captain Robert G. Ervin and Lieutenant O. C. McNeill, Virgil Hines and Frank Seifert.

Policeman's Blow Kills L. A. Salesman

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 27.—B. Hillard, traveling salesman of Los Angeles, died yesterday after being struck on the jaw by Fred Sanford, traffic officer on the international line at Tiajuana.

Driving toward San Diego, Hillard was stopped by the officer for operating his automobile without lights. William Shotwell, another traffic officer, joined Sandford and the two began to walk toward the border with Hilliard between them.

According to Sandford, Hilliard made a break to get away. In the scuffle Sandford said he struck the man on the jaw in self-defense. Hilliard, after being struck, walked 15 feet and dropped dead. His neck was broken.

HARDING'S PLAN TO END WARS TOLD

NEW YORK, Aug. 27 (By the Associated Press).—A letter from Warren G. Harding, written June 15, exhorting American newspaper editors to use their power to end war and described as "the legacy of a newspaperman-president to the press of his country," was made public last night by Walter Wellman, journalist and author.

In his letter, sent through Wellman to the editors of American newspapers, Harding sounded the same note he struck when, gazing with misty eyes on the caskets of American dead borne back from the battlefields of Europe, he exclaimed, "It must not be again."

"I am informed," wrote Harding to his fellow editors, "that some of you are considering a plan to use the power of the great American newspaper press to ascertain the opinions of the people upon the problem of America's duty in world reorganization for the abolition of war, the reign of international law with tribunals instead of battlefields as courts of last resort, and the creation of a system of international co-operation without super-government or encroachment upon the independence of any nation, designed permanently to preserve peace, neighborly relationships, economic stability and prosperity among all the peoples of the world.

"U. S. WILL NOT ENTER LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

"I have long since become convinced that the United States should not and will not enter the much-discussed League of Nations, but that conviction has not destroyed the hope that there may be found a way to world association and attending world understanding.

"With this plan to set the American people to thinking more strongly and clearly and expressing their conclusions concerning the international duty of our republic, I am in full sympathy; it is an admirable, useful work and I hope you carry it to all the readers in the land.

"I believe that in this great task of helping to make the world safe for humanity, no political party should seek selfish advantage; that here should apply our old and most wholesome tradition that party rivalries stop at the edge of the high seas. Hence I shall be glad if the American press, ignoring partisanship, uses its great power to draw forth the best thought, heart and soul of our people. In such a crystallization will be read the decision of the republic."

STIRRING OF PUBLIC THOUGHT CHIEF AIM.

In making public the foregoing letter, which he described as an urgent appeal to newspapers of all parties to conduct a nation-wide non-partisan popular referendum as to America's international duty, the details of which he had discussed with the late President, Wellman asserted that had Harding lived, his plans and purposes he would himself have revealed when ready.

Wellman then told of the conversations he had had with Mr. Harding in the White House a few weeks before his death.

"Mr. Harding told with feeling of his many days and nights of earnest prayerful thought on the problem of America's duty, of how he had at last reached a definite conclusion, that his conscience would not permit him longer to remain inactive of his belief that the conscience of our people, once their minds were stirred up on this problem, would not countenance persistent isolation and indifference as our national policy.

"'Our people have never really thought on this matter,' he said, 'and when they do really think on it they will stand with all their hearts and souls in the right place.'"

Picturing what Harding planned "to make the world safe for humanity," Wellman said he wished to have the world court proposal settled as the first small step, and then contemplated next years [illegible] all the nations to a world [illegible] at which he meant to [illegible] a definite program.

PINCHOT ORDERS HARD COAL MEN TO MAKE PEACE

Miners and Operators Told Anthracite Strike Must Not Take Place.

already. An unever output of coal—in which much and now little—will tend to block transportation; and the blocking of transportation will be almost as effectice in making a coal shortage as closing the mines.

"The public has not forgotten, and I shall not forget, the rights and interests of the miners and the operators. Each side represents a great and vital service to the public. Moreover, each side stands in the presence of a great and vitally important duty to the people at large.

"The public does not and cannot see with your eyes and appreciate with you except the background and the details of the present controversy. But it knows the essential facts. I express a truth none will deny when I say that the anthracite-using people of the United States are losing patience, and I ask you to consider that fact with care.

MINING SUSPENSION MUST BE AVOIDED

The public interest demands that this controversy shall be settled, and that a suspension of mining shall be avoided. The thing is possible—and it must be done.

Settlement means that neither side can get everything it would like to have. Few people ever do in the world we live in. But the settlement of this dispute is absolutely necessary for the public safety and welfare. The public needs and must have coal, and I am entirely confident that the public is going to have it. It is my duty to insure to the public, by every lawful means at my command, the necessary supply of coal.

I recognize the right of mine workers to organize for their own protection and to fair and decent conditions of living. I am fully aware that the strike is a right which should not be arbitrarily abridged or denied. The exercise of this right, however, should be made unnecessary by the use of orderly and reasonable methods of adjustment.

Judge Smith Ousts Suit For $25,000

Katherine C. Oles today lost her legal fight for $25,000 against Kahn Bros. when Superior Judge Mortimer Smith granted a motion for a non-suit in the damage action which she brought.

Mrs. Oles declared in her complaint that she ate luncheon at the counter in the Kahn store and that the stool on which she sat was fastened to an uneven base made of planks. She charged that, when she arose from the stool, her foot caught and she was thrown to the floor and injured. The non-suit was granted when the court found that Mrs. Oles had failed to use due caution in arising from the stool.

Mrs. Gray complains that Gray stayed out at night, associaeed with with other women, drank to excess and gambled. The wife asks for $20 a week alimony and all of the community property, including the home and furniture.

GERMANY MUST PAY, DECLARES FRENCH PREMIER

from pole to pole and become, under the Hohenzollerns, emperor of the human race."

POINCARE CLAIMS RUHR INVASION RIGHT.

GONDRECOURT, France, Aug. 27 (By the Associated Press).—"The best way to be aided, not only by Heaven, but by men, is to commence helping one's self," said Premier Poincare yesterday, in dedicating a Young Men's Christian Association plaque on the city hall to commemorate the arrival of the first American troops on the fighting front in the world war.

"It is this conviction that led us into the Ruhr," the Premier continued. "All that happened before—all that happened since—confirms our belief that we were right."

These words ended the premier's address, which was devoted chiefly to the coming to the battlefront of the Americans, and regret that war-time alliances has been dissolved. The premier had come to Gondrecourt from Chassey-Beaupre to dedicate the plaque. A band played the American national anthem, and at the end of the music the crowd shouted, "Long Live America; Long Live United States!"

"The Americans think," said the premier in his address, "that a people that pass the time in consultations, hesitations and complaints is afflicted with incapacity and impotence. A people that knows what it wants is always sure to attain their esteem and affection."

PLAQUE TRIBUTES LAUDED BY POINCARE.

M. Poincare praised the idea of recording the arrival of American troops in France with plaques inscribed in English and French "In Remembrance of the Heroic Days of the Great War When the Sons of France and the Sons of America Side by Side Gave Their Lives for Liberty."

The premier said that France was not mistaken in believing that mutual attachment, strengthened by tradition and comradeship under fire, was a better insurance of political friendship than sealed parchments. Although the American troops had been withdrawn from the Rhine and there was only an official observer on the reparations commission, the people of the United States watched sympathetically French reconstructions and France's efforts to safeguard her rights.

2 Killed, 2 Fatally Hurt Near Ojai

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27 (International News Service).—Thomas Castro, 30, and Mrs. Manuel Valesquez, 30, were instantly killed; the husband of the dead woman and a 14-year-old son were fatally injured and two other children of the Velasquez family were seriously hurt today when an automobile in which the six persons were riding collided with another machine at the top of the Opaigrade between Ojai and Ventura and were forced over a 150-foot precipice.

SENATOR PEPPER FAVORS FREEING I.W.W. PRISONERS

Pennsylvania Solon Advocates Release of Sacramento Dynamiters.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The joint amnesty committee quotes Senator Pepper (Rep.) of Pennsylvania as having declared himself in favor of the unconditional pardon of the Sacramento group of prisoners convicted of violating war-time laws. The statement said Pepper had investigated the case of each of the 22 prisoners.

"My net conclusion," the committee's statement quoted the Senator as saying, "was that in every case a pardon ought to be granted and I made a recommendation accordingly. In my judgment, pardons when granted in these cases should be unconditional. Annexing conditions seems to me inconsistent with the theory upon which pardon is recommended. The men ought to be in or out and, in either alternative, without ifs and buts."

TERROR REIGN PLOT.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 27.—It is believed that the men whose unconditional pardon from Federal prisons is favored by Senator Pepper are members of the Industrial Workers of the World, sentenced in this city early in 1918 in connection with the dynamiting of Governor Stephens' manson on the night of December 17.

Fifty-five men were indicted by the Federal Grand Jury in connection with the plot, which is said to have been a part of a reign of terror planned for Sacramento and all of California. Forty-nine of the prisoners pleaded guilty when brought into Federal court, February 16. They were sentenced a few days later.

Prosecutor Jailed In Bootleg Raid

FORTH WORTH, Texas, Aug. 27.—Texas ranger forces climaxed their two-day drive on moonshiners and bootleggers in the woody hills of Somerwell county yesterday with the arrest of County Attorney Eddie Roark. Six other men surrendered to the rangers, bringing the total number held by state forces to thirty.

Can You Title This Unnamed Cartoon?

TWO PRIZES instead of one! Because of the difficulty the judges have experienced in trying to pick out the winner of the cartoon contest, due to the number of meritorius suggestions submitted, it has been decided to give a second prize of five dollars for the title adjudged next best to the one winning the first award of ten dollars.

Please observe these rules carefully in competing for the title prize. Violation of any of these conditions will disqualify your entry.

Answer must be written on post-cards. No entries in envelopes will be received.

Titles must be written on the long way of the card. That is, from left to right, in the same direction as the address on the opposite side.

Answers must be mailed. No cards will be received in person at The TRIBUNE office. This rule is made necessary in the event of two winning titles coming for the same cartoon, when the prior postmark must be the determining factor.

Titles must not exceed twelve words in length.

They must reach The OAKLAND TRIBUNE by Thursday night following the Monday the picture is published.

One person may send in as many titles as he wishes, but only two on one post-card.

Post-cards must bear only the title and the name and address and no message whatsoever.

A $10 prize will be awarded to the winner and a second prize of $5 will be given for the title adjudged next best each week.

Winners will be announced each Sunday.

WESSON OIL and a fresh egg—beaten together and seasoned to taste—make the most delicious mayonnaise you ever put into your mouth.

Mayonnaise is nothing but oil and egg properly beaten together and seasoned. It is as simple and easy as that.

If the egg is fresh and the oil Wesson Oil, you are sure of a pure, delicious mayonnaise in almost no time and at a trifle cost.

Break the egg in the bowl, add about a tablespoonful of Wesson Oil and beat vigorously with an egg beater or a fork—until the oil and egg are thoroughly mixed. How long will this take? Perhaps while you count fifty—not as fast as you can count but as fast as you can beat.

Add another tablespoonful of oil and beat again—vigorously.

Two tablespoonfuls and beat again.

Two or three more and beat again.

Your mayonnaise will begin to thicken a little.

Then add Wesson Oil, four or five tablespoonfuls at a time, beating well after each addition—until your mayonnaise is as thick and stiff as you want it.

The more oil you use the thicker the mayonnaise will be.

The quickest results are obtained if the oil and egg are not too cold. The ordinary temperature of your kitchen is just right.

After your mayonnaise is made, season it.

For a cupful of mayonnaise you will find that a quarter teaspoonful of salt, a half teaspoonful of sugar, a half teaspoonful of mustard, a pinch each of paprika and red pepper and a half tablespoon of lemon juice or vinegar is a popular seasoning.

Mix the salt, sugar and spices in a cup, add the vinegar or lemon juice, stir until the salt and sugar are dissolved, and pour into the mayonnaise—beating the seasoning in well.

This makes a very mild mayonnaise.

If you do not like a sweet salad dressing, leave out the sugar. If you happen to prefer a very sweet dressing add more sugar and leave out the mustard. Or if your family is fond of very spicy things, add any amount and any kind of seasoning and spices you like. Suit yourself.

There is really nothing easier to make than a good mayonnaise—and you know how good it is because you know that it is made of Wesson Oil, a fresh egg and pure spices.

After you have tried it once, you will be amazed to find that anything so good can cost so little and be so easy to make.

Why wouldn't today be a good time to try it?

The finest oil is light in color and delicate in flavor just as the purest, sweetest sugar is white. And for exactly the same reason. Both have been refined—one from dark oil, the other from dark brown raw sugar—refined to pure goodness.

THOUSANDS VISIT SUNDAY SESSION STOCKTON FAIR

Fifth Annual San Joaquin County Exposition Draws Record Crowds.

STOCKTON, Aug. 27.—Thousands of persons yesterday flocked to the half-million dollar exposition park here, where the fifth annual San Joaquin County fair is being held. Special Sunday programs were features in the various exhibit buildings, and at night a kennel show, sanctioned by the American Kennel club closed after bringing into competition what fanciers claim is the cream of the western sporting dog world.

What is believed to have been the largest crowd ever assembled in Stockton attended the exposition Saturday night, about 7000 witnessing a performance of the night horse show. Horsemen declare this show, during which $11,000 is being awarded in premiums, is bringing out classes in which the most valuable aggregations of horses ever assembled at an American show are appearing.

Ranks of the race followers here are being swelled by arrivals from all parts of the coast, a free-for-all pace and a free-for-all trot which took place Tuesday, arousing unusual interest.

Owners of 400 horses now stabled here were busy throughout the day putting their prize animals in condition for the big events scheduled for this week. Farmington has been awarded $250 cash and a trophy provided by the county supervisors for the best agricultural and horticultural display at the fair. Lodi placed second, Escalon third and Manteca fourth.

The fair, including automobile, farm machinery; poultry, livestock, home economics and other shows, continues through Wednesday. Poultrymen claim $20,000 worth of birds are in display, while stockmen are enthusiastic over 171 head of cattle, 199 hogs and 176 head of sheep valued at $150,000, which are being shown.

GIRLS MAKE UP A LEMON CREAM

Lemons Beautify and Whiten Skin; Also Bleach Tan, Freckles

Mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents, shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin softener and complexion beautifier. Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon cream into the face, neck, arms and hands, then shortly note the youthful beauty, softness and whiteness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this harmless lemon cream to bring that velvety, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.—Advertisement.

BIG-TOP HORSES BECOME PETS OF CIRCUS PEOPLE

More Than 200 Are Used By Ringling Brothers in Various Ways.

Among the 200 and more trained horses that will come here with the Ringling Brothers and Barnes & Bailey circus are Arabic steeds, horses from Spain, Barbary stallions and yet others of English, Russian and American breed. To the people of the circus they are one and all just "sugar horses."

No matter what part a horse may play in the main tent performances there's somebody "back stage" to whom he looks for sugar. The supplier of sweetmeats will not necessarily be his owner or trainer. Those who have acts not requiring horses—such as the aerialists, gymnasts and clowns—all have their pets.

Aside from the "ring horses" are the hundreds of dapple grays that draw the ponderous red wagons. Even they are not neglected, as you will see if you watch their drivers when the Greatest Show on Earth comes here to exhibit next Thursday at the Forty-fifth and San Pablo avenue grounds.

SAN LEANDRO

San Leandro Street Extension Is Urged

SAN LEANDRO, Aug. 27.—A request that the Chamber of Commerce start activity for the opening of Washington street from the city limits to the San Lorenzo highway, connecting at Centerville with the main highway to Oakland, probably will be made by the city council, it was announced today by A. E. Pelton, mayor.

W. J. Gannon, also a supporter of this proposal, said today that to do so will provide a more direct way of travel from San Leandro to San Jose, and will materially aid in doing away with traffic congestion on East Fourteenth street.

City Budget System Movement Started

SAN LEANDRO, Aug. 27.—A movement for a budget system in San Leandro was started today by Judge W. J. Gannon, a member of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce. It is the outgrowth of the proposal for an increase of assessed valuation of property in the business section.

Gannon urges that a survey be made of the city's needs and plans adopted for proposed developments in advance of assessment of property.

Industrial Survey Of Community Starts

SAN LEANDRO, Aug. 27.—Work was started today on the industrial survey of San Leandro being made by the Chamber of Commerce.

The survey is to show the number and type of industries located in and near San Leandro and the possibilities for the further development of industries here.

Contra Costa Auto Tax Nearly $50,000

MARTINEZ, Aug. 27.—Automobile license fees contributed by Contra Costans for the period from February 1 to July 31 total $48,434.27, according to announcement today by Will H. The placed closed was a saloon in Richmond owned by John H. Martin. The closing order was signed by Superior Judge H. V. Alvarado.

PLANS OUTLINED TO HALT ANTIOCH HOME SHORTAGE

Deelpment Society In Word To Chamber Tells of Impending Activity.

ANTIOCH, Aug. 27.—A thorough outline of the plans of the Antioch Development Company, organized some months ago for the purpose of solving Antioch's housing problems, has been forwarded Chamber of Commerce members by officials of the company.

Endorsement of the movement to relieve the situation, developed into a free-for-all discussion of the matter at the recent chamber meeting.

Two investors took out stock to the amount of $1,000 before adjournment.

Business men receive daily requests for accommodations. Building, as proposed by the company is thought by many to be the best plan to relieve the situation.

Chairman Roy V. Davis, reporting on the progress being made, said that the plans for the first unit were in the hands of a number of contractors who will, within the next week, furnish the company with their quotations.

R. P. Easley, engineer for the city of Antioch, several months ago asked for his release. During this month's meeting the resignation was read and accepted by the city council members. Attention to personal business, Easley said, compels him to resign his post.

The first evidence of a belief in a survival after death appeared in the New Stone Age some 50,000 years ago.

EASTBAY PLANTS TURN OUT GREAT TOTAL ANNUALLY

$300,000,000 Production to Be Rep resented at Big Exposition.

Manufacturing plants of Eastbay representing an annual output valued at $300,000,000 will be represented in the East Bay Manufacturers' Exposition at Idora Park, September 22 to 30, if the present rate of enrollment of exhibitors continues, according to information from headquarters of the exposition. The display of manufactured products is to be held as part of Obapesia week.

The manufacturers' exposition is entering its third year with every indication that all previous records for exhibits and space will be shattered.

"Oakland has the opportunity in this exposition to show other California cities its wonderful record in industrial growth," said Walter W. Johnson, president of the Union Construction Company, and a member of the executive committee in charge of the exposition. Oakland now has about 650 actual going manufacturers not including small concerns, representing a capital investment of $180,000,000 and an output in 1922 of $305,000,000."

First Outing in 4 Years Taken By Mrs. Wilson

CHORAL CLUB TO HOLD REHEARSAL

The Onward Oakland Choral Club is the name of a woman's singing organization which will hold its initial rehearsal tonight in the Business and Professional Club rooms, 1741 Broadway, at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Louise Scarper, chairman of registration, reports that more than sixty names are signed to the opening roster, indicating an unusual interest in the formation of a woman's choral in Oakland. The choral club will meet regularly every Monday night throughout the winter under the direction of Miss Zannette W. Potter, with Miss Marguerite Blake assisting at the piano. Good music, not too difficult, will be learned and public programs will be given at intervals throughout the year. The chorus will form one of the units which will be incorporated into the "Chorus of a Thousand Voices," which will sing the opening night of the great fall festival in the auditorium arena Monday, September 24. Any woman who sings, soloist or not, is eligible to join. There is a special need of altos, but all those who are interested are urgently requested to meet tonight in order that the preparation for the bigger chorus may be gotten under way.

Another unit, composed of mixed voices, will also rehearse tonight and every Monday night following at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium, Twenty-first street and Telegraph avenue, under the direction of Walter Bundy, beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

KU KLUX BLAMED FOR FATAL RIOT AT INITIATION

Persistent Effort to Hold Parade Without Permit Led to Citizens' Attack.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 27.—The coroner's inquest into the death of Thomas Abbott, killed in the riot Saturday night, Abbott, ill not be held "for some time," it was declared by attaches at the Allegheny county morgue today. Coroner W. J. McGregor said that nothing pertaining to the killing of Abbott had been turned over to him because the sheriff's office still was investigating the rioting.

Patrick McDermont, a Carnegie undertaker, remained in the county jail today. He was arraigned in connection with the killing of Abbott.

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 27.—Arthur Finley, deputy sheriff of Broken Arrow, today confessed he was a member of the masked band which a year ago kidnaped and flogged Mrs. Myrtle Spain, Adjutant General Markham announced. Markham is in charge of enforcement of martial law here, proclaimed by Governor J. C. Walton, because of many whippings.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 27.—District Attorney Samuel N. Gardner moved today to prevent further disturbances like the riot in Carnegie late Saturday night, which resulted in the shooting to death of Thomas R. Abbott of Atlasburg, Washington county, a Ku Klux Klansman.

Gardner conferred with chiefs of the klan here and officials of Carnegie in an effort to learn what caused the mob of citizens of Carnegie to attack the klansmen with clubs and revolvers.

Chief Burgess Conley declared the mob attacked the klansmen when the latter insisted on holding a parade without a permit.

Scores of arrests were made, but the majority were released after a small fine on a charge of carrying revolvers.

Dr. W. H. Evans, imperial wizard of the klan, who attended the initiation of a class of candidates on the Forsythe farm preceding the rioting, announced a reward of $2,500, for arrest and conviction of Abbott's slayer. Sam D. Rich, king kleagle of the klan, announced a similar reward. Twenty thousand klansmen had gathered at the Forsythe farm near here for the initiation.

LAFAYETTE WILL BE HONORED ON BIRTHDAY, SEPT. 6

President Coolidge Calls On Governors and Mayors To Help Out.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27. — President Coolidge, in a letter to the Lafayette Day national committee, expresses gratification at plans calling for celebration of Lafayette Day, September 6, the anniversary of the battle of the Marne. The letter made public by the committee reads:

"The jointure, in the national celebration of Lafayette Day and the anniversary of the battle of the Marne, is a particularly appealing and suggestive arrangement. Each event represented a milestone in the progress of freedom in this world, and it seems more than a striking coincidence that they should have fallen on the same day of the year, though more than a century and a half apart. I am glad to know that there is prospect of an unusual widespread observance of this double anniversary this year."

The committee is calling the President's message to the attention of governors, mayors and patriotic organizations and has suggested that the tricolor of France, which Lafayette designed, be flown on his birthday with the Stars and Stripes, under which he fought in the Continental Army and that statues and monuments of Lafayette be decorated with both flags.

Garden Party At Hume Place For Moores

The gardens of Piedmont are famed not only through California, but in England, Italy and France, where gardens are brought up to the seemingly highest point of beauty and architectural perfection. But, except in the south of France and in Italy, the climate is against such all-year-round gardens as clothe the hills of Piedmont in gorgeous raiment.

One of these—in full view of the Gate of Gold—was the scene yesterday of one of the smartest and gayest affairs of the late summer—the luncheon and garden party of the C. E. Humes, in honor of the Walton Moores, who have just about settled in their Crocker Highlands home, a tour that took them into the highways and byways of the world.

Sunday was chosen, obviously, to engage the men, European fashion.

And, notwithstanding the lure of golf, they trotted round to the party—many in golf togs, to be sure.

The perfect day opened the door for all the diaphanous things that had been denied an airing before. And the result was one of those rare triumphs that fall together by chance—perfect color arrangement in the riot of color.

Mrs. Wickham Havens entertained a few days ago at luncheon for Mrs. Moore and to say farewells at the same time, for she leaves on Tuesday for New York to visit Mrs. Challen Parker.

Miss Edoff Goes To Maine

Miss Allene Edoff, daughter of the late James Edoff, to whose memory the bandstand in Lakeside park is dedicated, in acknowledgment of his years of single-hearted service to the play-places of the people of Oakland, will continue her traveling about the eastern coast—after a tour around world—for another half-year. Then home to her Piedmont hills.

The California girl spent the fortnight at Northeast Harbor, Me., where the forests and streams recalled, but did not measure up to the beauty, of her home-place in the West.

She has been accompanied by her sister, Mrs. George Baldwin of Philadelphia, through the northern trip, likewise during their stay in Boston, where they were entertained between their journeyings through the wonderful old nooks and cul-de-sacs that individualize the town.

Next month, the Piedmont girl goes to Washington, where she will see much of Mrs. William Adee—Evelyn Hussey—who on her western trip a year or two ago was house guest of the Frank Edoffs.

Next month the Cebrian family will go down to the Santa Barbara rancho, bringing friends down to double the pleasure by sharing it.

Wed at Smart Home Ceremony.

One of the notable weddings of the week was the service that made Miss Lillian Lundgren the bride of Charles O. Blayney.

The wedding was read on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson, Berkeley, the Rev. L. A. Lapsley reading the ritual. The bride wore a gown of white crepe satin, the tulle veil held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms. Lilies of the valley and white roses were combined in the shower bouquet.

Miss Dagmar Lundgren, maid of honor, wore peach-colored canton crepe, and Miss Norma Lundgren, bridesmaid, was in a frock of orchid georgette.

David Barnwell was best man. A group of the friends of the bride were ribbon bearers — Mrs. Carl James, Mrs. Arnold Anderson and the Misses Beatrice Ansinson, Margaret Heidecker, Bertha Swanson and Stella Peterson.

If you see it in The TRIBUNE, tell them so.

KAHN'S
OAKLAND'S LARGEST DEPARTMENT STORE

Greetings to Roos Bros:---

Dear Neighbor:

Once again we greet you as a neighbor—we say "again" because prior to 1913 we were neighbors on Washington street. Now you, too, have felt the need of expansion; of a larger building; of better facilities for doing business.

Ten years ago we moved to our present building across from your new location. Pioneering had its risks in those days, but now it has its compensation. We see ourselves surrounded with the best and most beautiful architectural structures that any city may well be proud of.

We take much pleasure after being separated from you for ten years to again welcome you as a neighbor. May you continue to prosper in the future as you have in the past. Your moving is just another indication of the growth of the city and the expansion of the business district—a spreading out and not a shifting.

We wish also, to congratulate Mr. George H. Clark for his vision and faith in Oakland in razing a five-story building to make room for a better and more beautiful one, specially built to serve your particular purpose.

We greet you as friends and neighbors and wish you well.

Sincerely yours,
KAHN BROS.

Jack Dempsey Soon Will Be Man of Million

Jack Kearns Says Champion Will Earn Five Millions in Five More Years.

SARATOGA, New York, Aug. 27.—Jack Dempsey went through his training motions before 2,000 people. Manager Kearns announced that receipts for the day were $2,200 and expenditures $275.

"Jack Dempsey and I expect to divide $5,000,000 in the next five years," confidently predicted Kearns after the workout.

"The conspiracy to get Jack Dempsey licked during the next five years will fail. He will be champion of the world until he is at least 35 years of age.

BEST MONEY GETTERS.

"I am proud of the fact that I have so managed Dempsey's affairs that he is the best money getter in the ring. I pay no attention to these aspersions against my management. I am Dempsey's manager for the sole purpose of getting the money.

"Please say for me, gentlemen of the press, that I also admire Luis Firpo for his saving habits. I am glad to hear that he has $200,000 put away for a rainy day.

"The most pitiful thing in the world is the sight of an old sporting man or boxer down and out and broke.

"Jack Dempsey and I have ours soaked away in Los Angeles real estate. We also expect to acquire Oakland and San Francisco holdings, too.

"We have figured it all out," confided Kearns, who was in a talkative mood," and have come to the conclusion that California will have 10,000,000 within our life times. We believe that the best investment in the world in California real estate. Jack and I are sinking ours in these investments as fast as we can get hold of it.

PUT MONEY IN TRUST.

"Many sporting men are advising Dempsey and myself to put a part of our earnings in a banker's trust so that we can not get hold of it to spend it. I am thinking seriously of doing this as I believe that the average boxer and manager isn't enough of a financier to hang on to his money unless it is tied up so he can't spend the principal.

"I plan to make Dempsey a man of Millions.

"Jack Kearns, millionaire, will also be my Dun and Bradstreet rating after I get through with the fight game.

"Remember that Dempsey will be champion for five years and will earn us each, net, one million dollars each."

OIL KING IS THERE.

Harry F. Sinclair, oil operator, Mrs. Sinclair, Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt, Mrs. J. S. Cosden, wife of the turfman and oil magnate, Mrs. Blaine Elkins, Mrs. Williams Hilt and Mrs. Fall, wife of the former secretary of the interior, were among the spectators.

The cold from which the champion is suffering was reflected in his work. He boxed six rounds and appeared to be slow in shooting his punches. In addition to the boxing, Dempsey tugged at the weights, shadow boxed for a round and drove his fists into the leather filled boxing dummy two rounds.

George Godfrey, the 225 pound negro continually stuck a snaky left hand into Dempsey's face during their two rounds to keep the champion off balance, so he could not whip over a crushing right or left hook. Dempsey, however, managed to connect solidly a half dozen times on the negro's chin, rocking him to his heels.

Jack Burke, who received a severe pummeling yesterday did not risk the danger of getting in close to Dempsey today. He tried to keep Jack at a safe distance with left jabs but the champion managed to catch him a couple of times by driving him into the corners. Dempsey shook him up with rights to the head, but tried more frequently to land left hooks to the jaw and body.

Jack Bernstein, world's junior lightweight champion, boxed the final two rounds with Dempsey to develop the champion's speed.

Jack McAuliffe, Farmer Lodge and Jack Renault are expected to join Dempsey's staff of sparring partners tomorrow. Godfrey will be absent for a few days to engage Bill Tate, another negro heavyweight in a contest in the West.

Ball Player Throws Runner Out, Then Dies

McALESTER, Okla., Aug. 27.—Joe Lovell, 22, shortstop on a local amateur team playing yesterday at Savanna, Okla., was struck over the heart by a batted ball that took a bad bounce. Lovell recovered the ball, and whipped it to first for the start of a fast double play that cut off a man at the plate and retired the side.

Then he collapsed. When team mates reached him he was dead. The blow, physicians said, had paralyzed the muscles of his heart.

FRESNO, Aug. 27.—Fresno jolted Dinuba out of the Valley League lead by trimming the Sun Maids 12 to 8 here yesterday in a free hitting matinee. Both Ray Keating, the Dinuba slabber, and Elmer Rieger, Fresno's new boxman, took advantage of the rough balls and sailed them constantly causing the batters to protest vigorously and delaying the game every inning while the umpires threw out the balls.

Golfers Play For Title at Berkeley Club

Members Assault Ball in the First Qualifying Round On Famous Links.

By W. D. McNICOLL.

At Berkeley yesterday about 70 players participated in a 36-hole qualifying round of the club championship in which the first 16 qualify for subsequent match play from scratch for the club championship trophy. Dr. E. A. Kruse, the present champion of the club, was unfortunately unable to defend his title through an injury to his arm, but was present yesterday to encourage the others to victory.

Clare Goodwin had a runaway victory for the low gross prize, medaling the difficult par 70 course in 79-82—161. Goodwin's nearest opponent was N. D. Hawkes with 87-85—172, with A. V. Thompson close with 85-89—174. The morning round was played under ideal conditions, but a strong breeze sprung up after lunch and players who were late in driving off were severely penalized by this additional handicap.

DR. JOHNSON STARS.

Dr. G. C. Johnson was in a class by himself in the handicap column, playing steady golf throughout the entire day. He had a remarkable net return of 137, three under par. Clare Goodwin was his nearest rival with a net of 139, while H. F. Watkins was third with 141 net. Clare Goodwin in his morning round was out in 37, but took 42 coming in. A 6 at the 15th was his worst hole. In the after-lunch round he was out in 42 and home in 40 with sixes at the 16th and 18th holes. N. D. Hawkes found most of his trouble on the greens, his tee shots and approach play was satisfactory. A. V. Thompson had a remarkable shot at the difficult par 3 sixth. Very few of the players were reaching the green from the tee yesterday, but Thompson solved the difficulty by holing his approach of over 60 yards for a birdie two. Dr. C. H. Terry had a satisfactory morning round of 87, but had a disastrous 98 for his after lunch score, but just made the first flight.

Pasadena Golfer Wins at Del Monte

DEL MONTE, Cal., Aug. 27.—S. C. Fertig of Pasadena won the Del Monte mid-summer golf tournament here yesterday by defeating J. A. MacKenzie, president of the California Golf Association, 3 and 2. In the semi-finals play of the morning MacKenzie eliminated Dr. S. Hardin of the Los Angeles Country Club. Both the morning and afternoon games proved too much for MacKenzie, who lost his steadiness in the afternoon play.

In the women's tournament Mrs. S. Hardin easily defeated Mrs. C. Emery of Los Angeles, 5 and 4. By her victory today Mrs. Hardin won the midsummer tournament championship for women two consecutive times.

WITH ST. LOUIS.

STOCKTON, Cal., Aug. 27.—Urban Pickering, shortstop, formerly of Modesto, who is now batting over .400 for the Sonora club of the Mother Lode league, is signed for a trial with the St. Louis Americans. He will report next spring.

Entries Close Saturday for MarathonRace

High School Runners Are All Ready to Compete in Tribune Contest.

Blanks have been widely distributed and high school runners are leading the procession in the preliminary registration race.

San Francisco club and school entries are also coming in fast.

Alameda is also send a galaxy of long-distance runners to the starting line.

Marathon runners are taking the kinks out of their legs running around Lake Merritt every night. They are getting used to the course. The distance, three and one-eighth miles, will not bother many of them, but they want to become acquainted with every foot of ground before the race.

From present indications all records for size of field will be broken. Several of the runners also predict that they will lower existing records for once around the course.

Athletic coaches of club and high school teams in the Bay district are urged to send in entry lists at once.

More than one University of California athlete will compete.

In short, all organizations in the district want to be represented so as to win honors and share in the distribution of team and individual prizes.

One Man Tells Another

"It's the triple blending"

Overnight, practically thousands of discriminating men, tired of the commonplace, have joined in welcoming Blue Boars.

The reason is simple: we took a pedigreed tobacco, a 19 year favorite 'mongst pipe smokers, and instead of merely making it into a new cigarette, we spent 6 years and a fortune in discovering how to super-refine it into a unique, exclusive cigarette.

We blend the eight rare tobaccos three times, instead of merely once. That is the difference between the commonplace and the extraordinary.

We ask you to judge—smoke your first pack of Blue Boars—see how triple blending gives you a new appetite, added delight.

WALTER MAILS MAKES IT THREE WINS OVER THE LEAGUE LEADERS

By EDDIE MURPHY.

By losing the morning game yesterday by a count of 4 to 1, the Oaks dropped the odd game of the series to the Seals, but they came back in the afternoon and grabbed a lot of revenge by coming out on the best side of a 5 to 4 score in a seventeen-inning game that was the most thrilling witnessed on the Oakland or San Francisco diamonds in ten years at the least. There were heroes galore for the locals, but there were two outstanding ones. Romeo McDonald, Oakland busher, who stepped up to the plate in the seventeenth inning as a pinch hitter for Walter Mails and won the game with a double. Walter Mails is the other hero. The big southpaw scored his third win of the series over the Seals, and in fact he is the only local pitcher to beat the champions. Mails took the box in the eleventh inning, after Ray Kremer game way to a pinch-hitter. The Seals got one run Mails won the game with a double. Walter Mails is the is the champion Seal trainer.

Captain Ray Brubaker, who had been playing good ball for some time and who some of the fans rode because he made a boot in Saturday's game, came back yesterday and played great baseball at short. His catch in the twelfth inning with two runners on the bases saved the game. He also made a star catch of Mulligan's liner in the first inning. Claude Cooper raced against the centerfield boards in the fifteenth inning to make one of the most sensational catches witnessed on the local lot and rob Kelly of a triple.

Oaks Come From Behind To Tie Score Twice

The pitching program as announced by Del Howard was not followed out, except in the morning when Harry Krause worked on the hill for the Oaks. Instead of Kremer starting in the afternoon, George Murchio did. Murchio lasted one inning, and Orville pitched the next four. He gave way to Knight as a pinch and Ray Kremer then went to work and pitched great ball until he also gave way to a pinch hitter in the ninth. Then the great Mails took up the burden and, like in the other two games, he had the Seals feeding from his hands. So after all, nobody is sorry that the program for pitching was changed, as the fans saw as fine a game as could be wished for.

The Oaks looked like a twice defeated team when they went to bat in the ninth inning of the afternoon game, and many a fan left the park, and are no doubt moaning today over the fact. The locals got three hits for two runs. Again in the sixteenth inning the Oaks were one run to the bad, and fans again left, believing that the game was all over, but again the Oaks tied the score. It was just one of those kind of ball games you read about in the magazines and story books, but this time it was the real goods.

Kremer Starts It in Ninth With Single

Valla, Campton, Waner and Ellison all got hits in the first inning to score a run off Murchio. Kilduff even drew a walk, so the young Oak was lucky to get away with only one run off him. In this innings, Ray Brubaker handled two line drives, so Murchio evidently did not have his right stuff.

The Oaks got three hits off McWeeney in the fourth but could not turn them into a run, while the Seals added another run in the fifth off Eley. In the seventh inning Ray Kremer connected for a double and scored on another by Claude Cooper. It looked like it was all over in the eighth, when the Seals came back with another unearned run off Kremer.

The Oaks had gathered nine hits off McWeeney in eight innings, but only made one run out of them. Then came the ninth and the finish of McWeeney, and Tim Buckley, who relieved him, lasted only one third of an inning, and Oliver Mitchell was called in too late to save the day. Kremer started the fun with a single and Johnson ran for him.

Massey walked and Cooper's single scored Johnson. Buckley is now in the box, and Brubaker forced Cooper. Louis Guisto came through with a timely hit and the score was even.

Guisto, McDonald Clout Out Timely Base Hits

From the ninth inning there were thrills galore with players on both sides contributing. No hits were made off Mails in the first three innings he worked. The Oaks got one each in the tenth and twelfth off Mitchell, but failed to score. The Seals got one off Mails in the thirteenth and two in the fourteenth. In the sixteenth inning, Seals got two hits and Chaviz, playing third for the Oaks, made an error that let Rhyne score. Then came the Oaks' half with Cooper drawing a walk, taking second on Brubaker's sacrifice, and Louie Guisto driving him home with a single. It was the second time that Guisto drove out a hit to score the run that tied the count.

Mails made quick work of the Seals in the seventeenth. Now we slip a bit of palm to "Buz" Arlett, who batted for Chavez in the seventeenth and got an infield single, and took second on an error. One was out at the time. It is now about time to call the ball game. The umpires said they would do it after the end of the inning, so manager Ivan Howard looked around the bench and everybody but Romeo McDonald, the Oakland busher, had been used up. So Ivan decided not to let Mails bat and sent the busher to his place. The fans started panning the Oakland leader for the move, but Walter Mails walked over, patted his manager on the shoulder, and advised the fans to stop their panning, as Ivan was the manager and he knew what he was doing. So the fans silenced while McDonald, the slender rookie stepped to the plate. Mitchell did not seem alarmed over the thought he was facing the rookie. Then came the big crash and the ball went sizzling down the third base line, while fans in the stands went daffy. Arlett completed the circuit and McDonald traveled to second to get credit for a double. And the heart of another Oakland busher was made happy as was that of thousands of fans.

Oaks Play Loose Ball In the Morning Game

In the morning game the Oaks were not up to their stuff and did not have much chance to win. Harry Krause was touched for 12 hits. The first run for the Seals was a gift when Al Maderas made a boot of an easy grounder with two out. Only two of the four runs were earned off Krause. But "Shovel" Hodge for the Seals pitched the best game. He allowed only seven hits and showed his best stuff in the pinches. Gene Valla got four hits off Krause and Kelly grabbed three. The scores:

Drawings for the first four races have already been made.

South End club has first choice of courses. The order is:

James Cronin, secretary, announces that entries for the four-club events will close tonight. The Vancouver club will leave on the Alexandria Thursday. They will take their shell to the University of California boat house on the Oakland estuary.

It is said that choice of positions gives very little advantage to any crew on the Oakland course.

Champion George Kingsley of the Vancouver club is one of the noted oarsmen who will be a guest of the rowing association.

Giants Improve Position During Week of Playing

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The New York Giants improved slightly last week on their performance of the week before winning four games of the seven played. Cincinnati, however, continued to creep up alarmingly, winning all six of the week's games. Pitsburgh also had a perfect percentage taking all five played. Today the Giants and the Pittsburgh team both won, while the Reds took a rest. Boston slumped lower losing four of the six games played.

Philadelphia lost five out of six.

St. Mary's to Give Writers Football Feed

BROTHERY GREGORY, president of St. Mary's college, and members of the faculty will be hosts at a football dinner given to the sporting writers of the Oakland and San Francisco newspapers on Thursday evening, August 30.

"It has been our experience," writes Brother Gregory, "that the newspaper men of the bay cities have at all times proven themselves to be staunch supporters of our various athletic teams.

"Particularly was this true in the resumption of athletic relations with Santa Clara for we hold that this resumption was brought about by the sporting writers of our daily papers."

Needless to say that the writers will be there next Thursday night. After a break of eleven years St. Mary's and Santa Clara resumed relations last year. Santa Clara has a formidable eleven this year but "Slip" Maddigan and his St. Mary's cohorts hope to down them in the annual game.

Forty football candidates will be in uniforms in the first field practice on Wednesday.

Soccer Teams Would Build Sport Stadium

Football Men Believe That Day Is Coming When 100,000 Will See Games.

Ewing field, San Francisco, will be leased for soccer contests. This much was decided at the state meeting of the football clubs of California Saturday night. Tobin field and Memorial field also will be used for the big games.

The game has grown to such proportions in popularity and prestige that three fields are now necessary to take care of the crowds.

CROWDS OF 100,000.

Pacific coast soccer enthusiasts now dream of the day when crowds of from 10,000 to 100,000 will see the cup contests.

San Francisco Football league and California cup ties will be played on one of these three fields. A great soccer stadium is a dream of the future. Oakland football league officials were also on hand and helped to frame the rules for this season.

Soccer men made one change in the cup rules. Hereafter the executive committee will have full charge of the presentation of cups.

Harry W. Maloney, soccer coach at Stanford, was again elected president of the California Football Association. Sam Goodwin was re-elected chairman of the executive committee. William Crawford was elected treasurer and William S. Campbell was elected secretary.

Jack Bolton, secretary of the San Francisco Football league; F. J. Lawrie, A. H. MacGregor, J. Elliott, John Young, Walter G. Campbell and A. Showell were elected to the executive committee.

Soccer experts who attended the meeting said that association football was far superior to mollified Rugby football as played by American colleges and that the day was surely coming when the kicking game would be first in popular favor. They voiced the opinion that the college game is more or less brutal and that the thrills of man to man combat are paid for at too great a price for the contestants. Soccer is going to have its day and draw great crowds they declared with emphasis and gusto.

In Los Angeles the big soccer cup games will be played in the new municipal stadium, seating 80,000. The Bay cities should have a similar place to play.

Negro Football Star Is to Play With U. of S. C.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—University of Southern California students are elated over the fact that Brice Taylor, the best all-around high school athlete in Seattle has decided to enter here.

Taylor is a negro. He is a broad jump champion and a football star.

This season he will play on the freshman team; next year he will be eligible for the 'Varsity. Old football men have told Gus Henderson that he is one of the best football players in the West.

Coach Henderson says that U. of S. C. now has the strongest and huskiest athletes on the football squad of any time in the history of the team.

Coach Glenn Warner of Stanford said last fall that U. of S. C.'s gridiron material was "best in the West."

Jim O'Connell Hits Home Run For the Giants

McGraw's $100,000 Beauty Helps Teammates Humble Chicago Cubs.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—(By Associated Press.)—Jack Bentley and Jimmy O'Connell each knocked out a home run in the ninth inning of the New York Nationals' game with the Chicago Cubs yesterday and won a brilliant game for the New York team, 4 to 3. Bentley was the last man around the circuit, and by the time he had reached third base a crowd of several thousand fans was waiting for him to escort him home. Bentley and O'Connell cost the Giants $140,000, but as far as the fans were concerned they earned it, and more.

The runs came at an especially appropriate time, as the Giants would have been even in games lost with the Cincinnati Reds if they dropped the contest.

Pittsburh and Brooklyn played the only other game in the National League, the Pirates winning, 9 to 2, after holding the lead from the first inning. The New York Americans were defeated by Clevenland, 4 to 3.

The Detroit Americans beat the Washington Senators in Detroit, 5 to 4, in a thirteen-inning contest. Shocker pitched the St. Louis Americans into a decisive victory against Philadelphia, winning 4 to 1, and allowing only three hits, all singles. The Red Sox won the second game of the series from the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 4.

Physical Health means—Beauty!

HEALTH and beauty go hand in hand. Where the system is run down—the face drawn and haggard—the body limp and lifeless—beauty is missing. Looks of pity supplant those that might have been gazes of admiration.

Restore your health and beauty will take care of herself. S. S. S.—the rich blood builder—rekindles the spark of health and lights the blaze of beauty by building red blood cells. The nerve power of your system finds life in these very blood cells. Build more red blood cells and your nerve power will increase. S. S. S. builds them. Rich blood will tingle through your system. That lost charm will return. Your entire system will be repaired. You will be ready to cope with the impurities and blemishes that handicap beauty.

As physical health means beauty so, too, does S. S. S. mean beauty. For S. S. S. means systems that are free from impurities—pimples, blackheads, acne, boils, eczema, rheumatism. S. S. S. and good health go hand in hand.

S. S. S. is made of pure vegetable ingredients. It is sold at all good drug stores. The large size bottle is more economical.

SEATTLE CARGO MOVEMENT GAINS OVER 40 PER CENT

Lumber and Flour Cargoes Lead Rest of Pacific Coast in Volume.

SEATTLE, Aug. 27.—Statistics announced by the Merchants' Exchange of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce for the first seven months of this year show material increases in both lumber and flour shipments out of this port. Lumber shipments increased over 40 per cent. The total up to August being 222,700 measurement tons, against 139,517 for the same period last year. Four shipments to the Orient, Europe, and South America totaled 1,199,512 barrels for the first seven months of this year against 1 004,328 during the same period last year.

The steamship Brookdale, owned by the Crosby Marine Corporation, which is undergoing repairs at a Seattle shipyard, will return to service about September 10, engaging in the lumber carrying traffic between Puget Sound and California ports. She is being changed from a coal to an oil burning craft.

During September Elder and Mittnacht, operators of refrigerator intercoastal freights for the shipping board expect the steamships Neponset and Deerfield on this coast to load general cargo. A considerable shipment of northwestern and California eggs will be included in the cargo.

Captain Louis Knaflich, president of the Kuskowim River Transportation and Trading Company and Master of the Auxiliary powered schooner Anvil, is planning another voyage to the Kuskokwim river this season, and may include calls at Nome. The Anvil, will sail late this week.

FOREST SERVICE CLOSES SALE OF ALASKA TIMBER

San Francisco Firm Buys Largest Amount Yet Sold to Make Paper.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 26.—The Cascade Creek Unit of pulp timber, located on Thomas Bay in the Tongass National Forest, Alaska has been awarded conditionally to the firm of Hutton, McNear & Dougherty, of San Francisco, according to an announcement of the Forest Service of the United States department of agriculture.

This sale involving 334,000,000 cubic feet of timber, or about 3,340,000 cords, is the largest sale of pulp timber ever made by the Forest Service. Indeed, so far as the records of the Forest Service show, the Cascade Creek unit is one of the largest single sales of pulp timber ever made in any country.

FOURTEEN UNITS LAID OUT.

The Cascade Creek unit is the second of fourteen pulp and paper units in the Tongass National Forest within which sales have been awarded following legal advertisement. The prices bid are 60 cents per cord for the Sitki spruce timber, which forms 27 per cent of the stumpage and 30 cents per cord for the western hemlock, which forms 72 per cent of the stumpage. The remaining timber is composed of Western red cedar and Alaska cedar for which the contract price is 60 cents per cord. These prices are in accord with the minimum advertised price. The stumpage alone is sold, title to the land remaining in the federal government.

WILL BUILD PAPER PLANTS.

The purchaser has agreed as part of the consideration for the timber to build a pulp-manufacturing plant of not less than 100 tons daily capacity, and ultimately with a daily capacity of 200 tons, at the Cascade Creek water-power site on Thomas Bay, 20 miles from Petersburg, Alaska, within the Tongass National Forest. It is understood that the firm plans to install a complete newsprint plant with a daily capacity of 200 tons.

According to the plans of the Forest Service for this sale unit, as well as for all pulp timber developments in Alaska, the timber will be cut on a perpetual supply basis, enough seed trees being left to insure complete natural reproduction. The volume of pulp timber and the area of timber-growing land within the unit, reserved from other dispositions, are sufficient to afford a permanent source of raw material for this enterprise.

Under the perpetual timber supply plan at least 1,500 000 tons of paper can ultimately be produced in Alaska every year. This amount is more than one-half of the newsprint now consumed annually in the United States and nearly 20 per cent of the total consumption of all kinds of paper and wood fiber products.

Crude Oil Cargoes Big Canal Item

Crude oil has been for some years an important commodity in Panama Canal traffic, but whereas the movement was formerly from the gulf ports of Mexico and the United States to the Pacific, this east-to-west movement has declined during the period under review, and oil is now being shipped in the opposite direction from two new fields, one in Southern California and the other in Peru. Shipments from Peru began in November, 1921, and from California in October, 1922.

The aggregate tonnage of oil shipped through the Canal from the east coast of Mexico from January to June, 1922, was 241,330 tons; from July to December, 1922, 137,598 tons; and from January to June, 1923, 124,279 tons. The corresponding figures of crude oil shipments from Gulf and Atlantic ports of the United States were 20,591 tons, 6,879 tons, and 15,843 tons. The decline is marked.

Peruvian crude oil shipments totaled 62,389 tons from January to June, 1922; 97,371 tons from July to December, 1922, and 142,380 tons from January to June, 1923.

The figures for California crude oil were 32 tons from January to June, 1922; 357,456 tons from July to December, 1922; and 3,331,593 tons from January to June, 1923.

In June, 1923, crude oil shipments from Pacific to Atlantic represented approximately 60 per cent of all cargo moving through the Canal in that direction.

Eighty-three per cent of the eastbound crude oil is destined for Atlantic ports in the United States, and the remainder for eastern Canada, the continent of Europe, the British Isles, Cristobal, C. Z., and the West Indies. Since March, 1923, although Mexico continues to export oil, there have been occasional cargoes of California oil each month consigned to the east coast of Mexico.

Eighty-six per cent of the westbound crude oil is now routed to the west coast of South America, and there are infrequent shipments to Balboa, C. Z., Central America, the Far East, and Australasia.

Homer to Change Hands, Report

Negotiations are understood to be under way between the Merritt, Chapman & Scott Corporation for the purchase of the salvage steamer Homer from Dan J. Hanlon, says shipping register. Thomas Scott, one of the officers of the firm, is coming to San Francisco next week and, if the purchase is consummated, will announce later where the Homer will be stationed. The salvage steamer Peacock, owned by Merritt, Chapman & Scott and en route from New York, left Balboa August 18 for Los Angeles Harbor where she will be stationed. The Homer is a wooden, twin screw, two-deck steamer of 501 tons gross, built in 1891 at Coquille, Ore.; length 146, breadth 33.8 and depth 17.

Cost of Sugar Beet Raising To Be Probed

California Among States That Will Be "Surveyed" By Tariff Commission.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The tariff commission has ordered a "comprehensive investigation into the cost of producing sugar beets within the United States. The survey, the commission's announcement today explained, will be separate and distinct from the inquiry being conducted into the cost of producing sugar in Cuba, Hawaii, Porto Rico, Louisiana and of the sugar mills of the West, and will be for "purposes of the so-called flexible provisions" of the tariff act of 1922."

The inquiry announced today calls for a survey of the cost of producing beets in about thirty sugar areas in Michigan, Nebraska, Colorado, Utah and California. Records will be taken from approximately two thousand farms, or about fifteen per cent of the total production of the thirty districts.

This amount, the commission said, should represent about ten per cent of all sugar beets produced in the United States.

The commission shortly will send out two crews comprising twelve or fourteen men who are trained in agricultural industries. Among them will be several from the department of agriculture, loaned for the purposes of the investigation.

Matson Co. Shifts Freight Carrying Craft

Concern Will Also Move to Increase Northern Cargo Deliveries.

Announcement was made today by M. J. Lindsay, traffic manager for the Matson Navigation Co., that the Matson freighter Makawell will deliver 76,000 cases of canned pineapples at Portland within the next week or ten days. The Makawell will arrive Monday or Tuesday and after discharging pines here will proceed to Portland to unload the balance of her cargo. This is one of the largest pineapple shipments carried from Hawaiian ports to Portland in 1923. The Pacific Steamship Co. will act as the Makawell's agents at the Oregon port.

It has been decided by the Matson Navigation Co. to send the cargo steamer Manukai on the Puget Sound-Hawaii-San Francisco run in place of the Manulani. The latter ship will be laid up for a couple of months upon her return from the islands.

The Matson Line is placing the Manukai in the triangular service to determine how she compares in efficiency of operation and costs on the triangular run as compared with the Manulani, which has been in that service for more than a year.

BOARD OFFICIAL URGES RATES FOR AMERICAN SHIPS

Benson Suggests That Preferential Rate Will Help Merchant Marine.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The suggestion of Commissioner Benson, of the shipping board, that provisions of the Jones act for preferential rates on American-carried marine freight be enforced as a means of aiding American shipping, was endorsed today in a statement issued by the National Merchant Marine association, which said, the plan would be of great benefit.

While the Interstate Commerce Commission has ruled that adequate service by American ships does not yet exist to justify enforcement of the preferential sections, Admiral Benson has pointed out, the statement said, that this decision "does not prevent application of the sections to a particular foreign port in favor of all ports of the United States."

"Applications of this principle," the association's statement continued, "is of great concern to American manufacturers and farmers, especially in the middle west, because of the factor of rail raul in the sale of commodities to foreign countries. Should the provisions of section 28, for instance, be applied to leading ports of entry abroad for American grain, the American farmer would have a direct interest in the use of American ships. The extent of this trade is indicated by the records of the bureau of research of the shipping board."

Gasoline Shipment Shows Big Slump

The foreign demand for gasoline, reckoned on to bring a recovery of market dominance to the big sellers when they announced their price cuts last week, has failed to develop, says the N. Y. Journal of Commerce. Instead of an increase of purchases for export, the buying in this field has taken a decided slump.

There is an apparent belief on the part of the exporters and foreign interests that the cuts made in the past five or six days are only a beginning of a decline in the wholesale cost of "gas" that will become even greater in the next few months, perhaps, even weeks. Consequently they are content to bide their time, always ready, however, to enter the market quickly if any signs of a definite recovery should make themselves apparent.

They are extremely skeptical about any such thing happening in the near future. The decrease in prices was brought about by oversupply. Buying following these cuts has not increased to such an extent as to eliminate this surplus and the foreign interests are inclined to view as extremely unlikely that there will be appreciable cut in the oversupply at least in the next month.

Production is continuing at an almost undiminished rate, and the buyers are inclined to view this as an almost certain sign that further reductions will be made. Meanwhile they are turning to the purchase of mixed cargoes of kerosine and gasoline. Few complete cargo sales of gasoline have been reported in some time. There is even a view in some quarters that this slump in export buying of "gas" has in part been responsible for the mounting surplus in American hands.

Indications that gasoline is to be still cheaper than it is at present is gained from another source. The refiners are inclined to the belief that crude prices are to be reduced within a short time. While they are attempting to maintain the present quotations for the refined product, there is a certain willingness to make concessions in order to clear for cheaper raw material in the near future.

NEWS FROM THE HEART of the GOLDEN STATE

TRIBUTE PAID TO JOHN A. BRITTON AT SIERRA LAKE

200 Newspaper Men Stand in Silent Testimonial at Top of Spaulding Dam.

AUBURN, Aug. 27.—Luncheon at the Crystal Springs Park in Auburn yesterday marked the close of the inspection tour conducted by Pacific Gas & Electric officials for almost 200 newspaper men of California over the company's Spaulding-Drum development, extending from the high Sierra peaks to the foothills about this city.

A noteworthy incident of the excursion was an impressive silent tribute paid by the party, numbering upwards of 200, to the memory of the late John A. Britton, vice-president and general manager of the company. This tribute took place during luncheon Saturday on the top of the dam at Lake Spaulding at an elevation of almost a mile above sea level. Luncheon tables had been arranged from end to end of the 275-foot concrete dam and shaded from the sun with a bower of ferns. It was while the luncheon guests were listening to addresses by General Manager Frank A. Leach Jr., Vice-President P. M. Downing and Vice-President R. E. Fisher, who occupied a boat out in lake, that they stood uncovered for a moment as a testimonial to the man whose foresight, daring and confidence the consummation of the undertaking is ascribed.

The party went to the Sierra Nevada on a special train of twelve Pullmans Friday night and detrained Saturday morning at Summit, where forty-five automobiles were waiting for the cross-country run. Saturday's itinerary included a ride by way of Lake Van Norden, a Pacific Gas & Electric storage reservoir, to Lake Spaulding, and an inspection of the two Spaulding power houses, and a ride by way of Emigrant Gap to Lookout Point, where the company maintains an observation post along the state highway that commands a sweeping view of the surrounding country, to the Drum Powerhouse in the Bear Valley.

The newspaper men were dinner guests at the Drum power plant, where there was also a program of music and speaking. Later in the evening they were driven to Colfax, where their sleeping cars lay.

Yesterday morning they said goodbye to the sleepers and started by autos for the drive by the Halsey power house to the Wise power house in Auburn, incidentally seeing something of the irrigation made possible in the foothills through water the company supplies.

Attorney T. L. Chamberlain and P. B. Goff, secretary of the Placer County Chamber of Commerce, welcomed the newspaper men on behalf of the city and county at the luncheon in Crystal Springs park, where there were also addresses by General Manager Leach, Vice-President Fisher and Editor M. F. Cochrane of San Rafael.

The trip back to the bay cities was made by automobiles.

MINER STRIKES RICH FIND ON OLD PROPERTY

MARIPOSA, Aug. 27.—In a single day Robert W. Davis took out more than $1000 in gold from a pocket a mile west of Bear valley, near the old Jumper mine. The pay dirt still continues rich. Davis is a thorough prospector and miner, who, after discovering a lead, followed it up and then began opening the ground. Many large pockets have been taken out in that district.

HAYWARD

Sheet Metal Workers Convene at Vallejo

VALLEJO, Aug. 27.—The delegates to the Pacific Coast Conference of Sheet Metal Workers held a well attended meeting in this city yesterday at the Labor Tmple.

HAYWARD, Aug. 27.—There is a strong probability that at the semi-weekly meeting of the Hayward City Council, scheduled for this Wednesday night, a representative group of Main street residents will appear and ask that immediate steps be taken for a complete repairing, paving, curbing and guttering of that thoroughfare from B street to the westerly town limits, approximately five full blocks. Local officials have been informally advised that the improvement program is desired by the residents, preferably before the winter season sets in.

Hayward Schools Open Fall Terms

HAYWARD, Aug. 27.—After a long vacation period, purposely extended to enable the boys and girls to assist in the harvesting of the county crops, Hayward high and grammar schools opened their fall semester today. The Castro Valley grammar school, although in a separate district, began operations simultaneously with the local institutions. In virtually every instance, according to officials, a decided increase in the enrollment was noted, with a still greater enlargement expected with the return of numerous families during the next two or three weeks. The families in particular will return from the interior farming regions where they had spent the late spring and early summer, working in the fields.

Hayward Pigeons To Dominate Show

HAYWARD, Aug. 27.—Indicative of the extent and size of the pigeon industry in the Hayward region comes the statement from Alan G. Curry, of this community, president of the Pacific Pigeon Fanciers' club, that one-third to one-half of the birds that will be entered in the pigeon show being conducted by the organization at Oakland in November will come from local producers. To date, mentioned Curry, more than 500 birds have been either formally entered or promised, with that number expected to be considerably augmented within the next month or two. It is believed that a total participation of 2000 pigeons will greet the show's opening.

In the past 12 years the United States has mined more coal than in the preceeding century and a half.

Small Boys Heroes At Bad Grass Fire

HAYWARD, Aug. 27.—A "gang" of small youths at play in the Hayward Municipal Park proved themselves heroes and prevented what might have been a serious conflagration late Saturday afternoon. Presumably ignited by neglected rubbish fire at the park, the flames swept through the high grass, burned a portion of a small residence of Ah Fong, a Chinese, threatened the large home of Dr. R. M. Manson and entered into a corner of the St. Joseph's cemetery. And just when it appeared that the fire would be out of the hands of the departmental members present the "gang" numbering a dozen or more, came into action.

Forming a miniature and not too well organized bucket brigade and wielding wet sacks with all the gusto of veterans, the youngsters saved the day. A few minor burns were inflicted. The actual damage was about $50, but the possible destruction reached into the thousands. Jack Carr, truck driver, extended a vote of thanks to the volunteers.

NATIVE SONS LAY CORNERSTONE OF CROCKETT SCHOOL

CROCKETT, Aug. 27.—Grand officers of the Native Sons of the Golden West laid the cornerstone of the new Crockett-Valona grammar school yesterday. The building, located beside the highway between Crockett and Valona, will be completed in time to open the spring semester in the new building. It will cost more than $300,000 to finish.

The cornerstone laying was preceded by a parade from Crockett to Valona and back to the school which was participated in by fraternal orders and citizens to the number of nearly a thousand, led by the Piedmont Parlor, N. S. G. W., band, the Piedmont Parlor drill team of the N. D. G. W., and the drum corps of Twin Peaks Parlor, N. S. G. W., of San Francisco. Every parlor of Native Sons and Native Daughters in Alameda and Contra Costa counties was represented and practically all of the grand officers of the Native Sons were present.

Charles L. Dodge of Carquinez Parlor, a grand trustee, was chairman of the day and Thomas Cahalan of the same parlor was master of ceremonies. Addresses were made by Grand President William Hayes, Grand First Vice-President Edward J. Lynch, Grand Second Vice-President Fletcher A. Cutler, Grand Marshal Harry A. Reynolds and Grand Trustees Frank A. Garrison and Charles A. Thompson. James A. Hoey, past grand president of the Native Sons, and Addie A. Moser, past grand president of the Native Daughters, also spoke. On behalf of the citizens of Crockett and Valona responses were made by George M. Rolph, general manager of the California & Hawaiian Sugar Company; A. M. Duprew, plant manager of the C. & H. Sugar Company; George L. Bell, consulting engineer and George A. Johnson. The visitors were entertained at the Community Auditorium in the evening as guests of the C. & H. Sugar Company for the town of Crockett. More than 2000 persons witnessed the laying of the cornerstone.

COUNTY OFFICER AT EL CERRITO GIVES UP POST

J. F. Walsh, Deputy Constable, Quits Office Under Fire of District Attorney.

MARTINEZ, Aug. 27. — J. F. Walsh, deputy constable at El Cerrito, has escaped facing legal action by District Attorney A. B. Tinning to oust him from office through submitting his resignation to his superior, Constable George Conlon. Word of Walsh's action was received here today.

Walsh came under the fire of the district attorney recently when he was alleged to have testified in the trial of an abatement suit against a Chinese lottery establishment at El Cerrito that he had visited the place, had seen gambling and had not made any arrests. Tinning immediately announced that he would institute proceedings seeking to have Walsh removed from office.

In submitting his resignation, Walsh is quoted as saying he was not prompted in his resignation by the promised legal action but had quit because of a desire to relieve Constable Conlon of any embarrassment. Walsh is also treasurer of the town of El Cerrito.

San Jose Viaduct Hearing Scheduled

The hearing will take place in the chambers of the railroad commission with Clyde Seavey presiding. Bowden and Goodwin will contend that the city should pay for only two tracks beneath the Alameda and that it should not pay for the portion of the viaduct lying outside the city limits. The board of supervisors of this county have announced their opposition to paying any portion of the costs of the project and the entire matter will have to be threshed out tomorrow.

Several members of the board voiced objections to the appointment of the county's traffic force by the chief of the division of motor vehicles, on the ground the division is endeavoring to build up a political machine at the expense of the counties.

Employer Denies He Had Girl Searched

SAN JOSE, Aug. 27.—An answer to the $20,000 damage suit filed against G. W. Wagner, manager of the Metropolitan 5 to 50 cent store, by Miss Leland Nail, is on file today in the superior court.

Miss Nail alleged that Wagner accused her of the theft of 25 cents; that he called a policeman and ordered her searched, and that he humiliated her to the extent of $20,000 before the crowds in the store. The 25 cents was later found in a waste basket.

Wagner's answer to the girl's suit states that he did not accuse her of stealing the money, but that he did call a policeman after asking several times where it was. He claims he did not order the girl searched, but that she asked to be searched and that the policeman put his hand in the pocket of her apron in search of the money.

PRUNE GROWERS LOSE CROPS IN SAN JOSE FIRE

Tons of Prunes All Ready For Delivery Destroyed As Dehydrator Burns.

SAN OSE, Aug. 27.—Insurance men and growers are today checking up on the causes of a $13,000 fire which yesterday destroyed the dehydrator of the Oliver Dehydrator Company and about 20 tons of prunes, most of it ready for delivery.

The first fire apparently was caused by overheating. It was discovered when one of the employees of the plant smelled smoke and began to open the doors of the dehydrator in an attempt to discover the fire.

At first no flames were to be seen but a moment or two after the doors were opened they burst out and enveloped the woodwork, spreading rapidly.

The city fire department was called and after laying a hose for half a mile to the nearest hydrant controlled the fire, saving adjoining buildings. According to George Oliver, head of the dehydrator, which was located at Moorpark and Lincoln avenues, the fruit belonged to various growers and was not covered by insurance. The dehydrator, however, was partially insured.

Sunnyvale Tax Rate Reduced Nine Cents

SUNNYVALE, Aug. 27.—The new tax rate for this city will be 9 cents per $100 less this year than last year, according to the report made by Mrs. Benner, town commissioner of finance, to the town board at their regular meeting last week. This reduction is due to a large increase in the assessed valuation of Sunnyvale property this year—it being a gross of $1,161,300 and also to the fact that principal and interest had been paid on a number of municipal bonds, which have been retired.

The assessment roll for the town of Sunnyvale this year carries the following impressive findings: real estate value, $423,250; value of improvement and buildings, $443,220; personal property, $281,310; property of public service corporations, $15,810; and, money and credits, $210.

"BOOTLEGGING" IN ALIENS.

Needed reforms in the immigration law, both as to text and application, are promised in the position of James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor.

"I propose that we establish strict but just tests of physical and mental health," Mr. Davis says, "and that we make those tests under the numerical restriction now placed by law on immigration. I would have those tests made abroad, in order that the applicant for admission may not have to spend the savings of a lifetime on a long sea voyage, in order to find out whether he can enter the United States."

Here is a suggestion from official source which promises to set at rest the widespread concern evidenced in the United States for the plight of aliens who are turned back at the gates of America because in numbers they have exceeded the quota of their country. The solicitor of the Department of Labor is now inquiring into the possibility, under present law, of moving the whole examining machinery to foreign countries. It is the opinion of Secretary Davis, and of many others who have given the subject study, that nothing would strengthen the whole immigration policy so much as this move.

The "bootlegger" is affording a problem to the immigration authorities, who have given the name "bootlegger" to those agencies engaged in admitting aliens against the law. It has been found that under the Seamen's Act sailors from every country are allowed shore leave in America, and that hundreds are enlisting as sailors for the very purpose of securing that shore leave. They fail to report back to their vessel and add to the number of "bootlegged" residents. Estimates of the number who enter the country illegally each day vary from one hundred to one thousand. Another problem is afforded by those who succeed, by force of circumstances or aid of relatives to present a pitiful argument and cause for human sympathy. Usually these cases involve the breaking up of families, or the return of individuals, even children, to deplorable conditions abroad.

Under the present law of quota restrictions there is no limit placed upon the number of immigrants from countries in the western hemisphere. This condition, which has many arguments in its favor, has been taken advantage of by agencies who direct a flow of immigration from Europe and Asia to other countries on this hemisphere and then to America.

It is generally conceded that restriction of immigration has proved its case. The evils to be attacked are the bootlegging of aliens and the system in which more of them are brought to these shores than can be allowed admittance. The assurance of the Secretary of Labor that action is being taken in these directions is welcome.

MINES AND THE COUNTIES.

The value of gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc produced in California in 1922 as compared with the 1921 output is $21,332,168 to $20,952,423. It is significant that in 1922 the number of producers was a little less and that the gold and silver production was slightly lower. Copper, zinc doubled and lead quadrupled.

California produced 709,677 fine ounces of gold last year to 759,720 fine ounces the year before. It produced 22 million pounds of copper to 11 millions in 1921. The government records, made public this week by J. M. Hill of the Geological Survey, show that Nevada county, with 140,460 fine ounces, was the leading gold county with Yuba and Amador counties following in order. After that come Sierra, Calaveras and Sacramento. The heavy production of silver, more than in all other counties combined, is in San Bernardino county and Plumas is almost alone in the copper field, yielding 20 million pounds out of the total. The bulk of the lead comes from Inyo and Shasta produces the zinc.

As the total value of these minerals Plumas, with its great copper production, ranks first as the only one to pass the three million mark. Then come Nevada, San Bernardino and Amador counties. There are idications that this year will tell a different story. One of the largest producers in Amador county was closed for a great part of 1922 by fire and flood. Sierra and Nevada counties have reported new strikes. It is believed the gold total for 1923 will be higher than in 1921.

The report shows that for the five metals the California output has increased in value by about a half million dollars and that it now totals $21,332,168.

HARBOR AND VALLEY.

That the San Joaquin and Sacramento Valleys as vast producing areas which look with interest upon any development of transportation and marketing facilities, are turning an increased attention to Oakland harbor and its prospects is evidenced by recent comment in the State press. Oakland, the Valley papers agree, is the logical shipping point, and the improvements promised for the harbor by Federal appropriation and public action will make it increasingly important.

An outstanding reflection of the view of the San Joaquin is expressed in the Hanford Sentinel, the editor of which is possessed of a vision broader than immediate surroundings. His editorial on the relation of California harbors to the great agricultural valleys, and on the possibilities of Oakland as seen by an enterprising editor in a flourishing Valley city, is presented herewith in full:

Development of harbors of California is of more than passing interest to the interior of the state, as the farm counties realize that the better the facilities for handling goods and products at tidewater the greater the opportunity of the great valleys centralizing a large part of their freights at tidewater. The matter of coast harbor development has in the past not appealed to the valleys to any great extent, because the volume of output from the interior had not reached the gigantic proportions of the traffic of today.

In connection with the subject of harbors, the work that has been done at Los Angeles and San Francisco has begun to attract our attention, but we have to some extent failed to appreciate the coming port possibilities of Oakland and to realize that Oakland has already accomplished much more in the way of constructing an eastside harbor at San Francisco bay than we have imagined.

Oakland may soon have to seek a bond issue for harbor development, and we gather from the Oakland Tribune that there would be little opposition to such an issue were the voters assured that the funds would go toward port betterments, and that alone. With large deep sea ship docks already maintained the east bay city wants to expand and make of its basins more seaway space and provide facilities for handling all sorts of cargoes, such as does San Francisco.

Oakland harbor would receive, we believe, a large part of the lower San Joaquin valley shipments when the right sort of refrigerator ship services are provided. It looks to us like a more accessible port than San Francisco. However, San Francisco is up and doing in harbor matters, and perhaps Oakland will realize that unless she keeps on the move in dock and warehouse construction she may not obtain the volume of business that would appear from her natural position and advantages to belong to her.

EMPLOYMENT GAINS.

Employment and manufacturing conditions continue prosperous, according to an analysis made by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the United States Department of Labor. Comparing July, 1923, with the same month in 1922, 37 out of the 43 representative industries show large increases in employment. Steam railroad car building and repairing and foundry and machine shop products show over 50 per cent increase, as do plants making electrical goods, iron and steel, and chemicals.

What is of particular interest to the Pacific Coast is that the steel shipbuilding plants, petroleum refineries, and machine shops here report substantial gains in full-time work. A combined total of reports from 51 industries indicates that 80 per cent of the 5521 establishments reporting as to their operating basis were working full time, 18 per cent were working part time, and 2 per cent were closed.

The July figures, when compared with June, show the seasonal decreases of invoice weeks and midsummer shutdowns to be unusually low.

Perhaps it is a coincidence, but the same day that brought the news that a ship carrying 1,444,000 eggs had passed through the Canal for the Atlantic ports, brought also the item that a number of dramatic companies were leaving New York for tours of the interior.

Compulsory attendance at a class of automobile driving is forced in Detroit on speeders. There are already 200 members who are being shown the wrong and the right of traffic deportment.

The LANTERN

In the Car.

This morning (in a crowded ferry train),
A woman and a man sat, with a child,
Too weak to wail, it lay with half-closed eyes;
Exhausted with the heat and colorless.
One almost heard the kindly doctor say:
"It must have country air or it will die!"
And they were fleeing from the city's scourge,
As, long ago, two fled from Nazareth
To save the child—two young things, unprepared
For life, but up against it, stark and grim.

The man's arms tensed about the little form,
His white face full of anxious tenderness;
The mother, worn with vigils, watched its face
In anguish, with her whole heart in her eyes;
And through the rush and roar the baby slept,
While strangers, seeming careless, could have wept!

Mr. Henry Ford is being spoken of as a possible candidate for President, and a great many persons are ridiculing the idea on the grounds that (to put it rather bluntly) he doesn't know enough.

We don't think he does. But that gives rise to the question: Who does?

• • •

We have sat and thought about the matter for hours and we can't think of anybody that does.

• • •

If we were asked to pick the next President ourselves, with our one and single vote—not asked merely to choose between two men, or one from among a number of men, presented to us, but to go out and find the man—we shouldn't know which way to turn.

• • •

The job of picking a President is going to become still more complicated and amusing before very many years, when women will be among the candidates. Men rather like a headstrong, dictatorial, bold Queen, wit ha spice of caprice in her nature; they would not like those qualities so well, we believe, in a Woman President. But that is probably just the kind of woman who would manage to get herself elected President.

• • •

How would you like to be the Husband of a Woman President?

(Farce writers and musical comedians, lay off that, now! We're going to develop it ourself some day.

• • •

We don't wish anything we have said about our inability to choose a President (which humiliates us) to be taken as favorable, even in a negative way, to the candidacy of Mr. Ford; we think, as President, he would be an Awful Piece of Work. He doesn't know enough.

EXCERPTS from the NATIONAL PRESS

Kansas City Star: "Kansas City has by far the largest ball park in the American association. The owner of the Blues, George Muehlebach, is a man of imagination. He established a home for his club that would be a credit to any major league city. The vast concrete structure, roofed over, without the customary cheap wooden exposed seats, was widely regarded as a piece of extravagance. At the double-header yesterday people swarmed into the park. They packed the huge grandstand."

Chicago News: "It is true that if incomes have gone up in the last decade so also have living costs. But anybody who is inclined to balance the one against the other should do a little extra figuring and thus estimate what comforts, what luxuries, what extravagances, if you please, are now covered by the family budget that had no place in it ten years ago before costs went up. This exercise in domestic finance furnishes one way of estimating progress."

Kansas City Star "The National American league," an organization to fight the Volstead act, is out for 100,000 new members, and has opened headquarters in parlor K, Morrison hotel. Self-evident facts are: A. Parlor K is no soft drink parlor. 2. The first 100,000 members will be the hardest. We have no desire to interfere in the National American league. But since the object, we understand, is to substitute effective government control for prohibition, would not the name, 'Ration American league' be better and more economical?"

New York Times: "The first regular congress of the Confederate States, succeeding the Provisional Congress, was elected in November, 1861, when Mr. Davis and Mr. Stephens, President and Vice-President of the Provisional Government, were elected President and Vice-President under the Permanent Constitution for six years from February 22, 1862. There were four sessions of this congress; two of the second. Richmond fell before there was time for a third. The journals and acts of the two Confederate Congresses have been reprinted, but they are little more than a bare outline. The Southern Historical Society has undertaken a work of great historical value. It has begun the publication of "full abstracts of the debates, compiled from the newspapers," chiefly from the famous Richmond Examiner."

New York World: "Scientists do not know what has happened to the weather. The sun delivers less heat than usual, rains have decreased to about 70 per cent of the normal fall, drought and cloudbursts have alternated throughout most of the United tSates, South Africa, and South America report winters unusually cold, the Argentine wheat crop has suffered from temperatures six degrees below the normal. Europe has contended with a spring of late frosts and a summer of violent heat. California has experienced an August snowstorm, cotton, wheat and corn predictions are being cut to meet the lack of rain. It seems to those who should know more about it than the rest of us that this unfortunate condition is due to a strike on the part of the sun."

Medford Mail-Tribune: "It is the intention to hang Dan Casey at Salem early Friday morning, unless the governor intervenes. Casey is a bad egg, and does not believe in Hell or Heaven, and besides, did not have a good lawyer He is also out of friends, money, and political influence. A geek by the name of Burns, his partner in crime on the night of the murder, had all these, plus good looks, a wife and a crying baby in court. The jury acquitted Burns and convicted Casey. Why break Casey's neck with a rope in the name of justice?"

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

On one day in the year it might be just as well if every store and industry were kept open and running. That is Memorial Day. Then there should be an understanding that everyone could get off during the morning if he would attend the memorial services. The day is not rightly a holiday in the sense that it is to be used to chase to the mountains and the seashore, leaving a few people at home to go out to the cemetery and decorate the graves. Memorial day is being misused. It is not properly a day for celebrations.—Watsonville Register.

Lassen Peak Volcanic National park is attracting world-wide attention according to the National Geographic magazine and several southern newspapers that have recently published editorials on the subject The park on the slopes of the peak, according to the chief engineer of the national park service, deserves to rank among the four or five greatest of the eighteen national parks in the United States. It will so rank. The question that concerns Northern California in particular is how soon?—Redding Searchlight.

"Its all off," declared the president of United Mine Workers, as he emerged from a conference with mine owners, indicating that a strike is inevitable. We doubt if it is "all off" or that a strike will last long in case it is called. An 80-year-old man was badly bumped by an auto and was in the hospital for several months. He was almost bald when he had the accident, but in eight weeks he had grown a fine head of hair. JUST FOLKS

REST.

Oh, it is sweet to romp in play
And from life's worries steal away;
'Tis good to lay the burden down
And cease to struggle for renown,
But oh, my boy, before your fun
You first must have your duty done.

'Tis sweet to rest and sweet to dream
Upon the banks of yonder stream;
'Tis good beneath a tree to lie
And build your castles in the sky,
But bitterly you'll rue the day
If you have shirked your task to play.

You cannot rest with easy mind
If care must follow on behind;
You cannot play with conscience clear
If want or shame is standing near
By sorrow many men have learned
The right to pleasure must be earned.

'Tis swet to play, but sweeter far
Those hours of ease and pleasure are
Which follow toil. The weary best
Enjoy their days of peace and rest,
And he is never wholly gay
Who has not earned the right to play.

Joy Riding in China.

Speed in travel appeals to the Chinese fancy and the rage for "stepping on the gas" has now extended to the Orient, according to Trade Commissioner William I. Irvine, who has just completed a survey of the Far Eastern automotive markets for the Department of Commerce.

This Oriental bent for speedy travel is an asset to Chinese railroads and bus lines, thousands of Chinese taking joy rides simply for pleasure, and it is no uncommon thing, Mr. Irvine reports, for a poor coolie to spend his last "cash" on a ride that leaves him stranded many miles from home. He trudges back complacent and satisfied in his own mind that his money has been well spent.

The economies as well as convenience and speed of motor transportation is bringing a slow but certain transformation to old China, highways are being extended and the good roads movement is spreading.

Serious students of Chinese affairs contend that the extension of motor transportation would contribute more to national cohesiveness, to political stability and industrial progress than any other factor.

Mr. Irvine is extremely optimistic as to the future market prospects in China, stating that "automotive exporters would certainly be repaid for their foresight."

Mr. Irvine's itinerary included China, British Malaya and Chosen and the results of his studies and observations are contained in "Automotive Markets in China, British Malaya and Chosen," which has just been released by the Department of Commerce and can be purchased from the superintendent of documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., or any of the district co-operative offices of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

AN OFFER OF MARRIAGE.

NEURITIS AND COUNTER IRRITATION

Counter irritation refers to blisters and burns and scratches and punctures and inflammations done on purpose to an unfortunate who is already suffering with some such trouble. As nearly as I can understand it, counter irritation consists in giving a bad boy a good spanking on his gluteus maximus to distract his attention from an alleged pain in his epigastrium, particularly a 9 o'clock pain inducted by the imminent arrival of a circus.

Bellke I merely betray a deficient grasp of the fundaments of physiology and pathology, but the principle of counter irritation in therapeutics has always seemed to me about 98.44 per centum hokum. Still it is universally accepted that there is some virtue in liniment or rubbing salve aside from the color, the odor and the bite. Just what the virtue may be is a mystery. I like mystery in a murder story, but in medicine I can't savvy it. Quacks thrive on mystery and ignorant and credulous people really prefer mystery to enlightenment.

It is the atmosphere of mystery, always impressive to the credulous, that makes the sparks from a static machine, or the heat from a cautery implement so effective for counter irritation. A mustard plaster or a fly blister accomplishes the same purpose but is less impressive to the mind.

The physiologist in attempting to explain counter irritation refers somewhat vaguely to reflex action. That means the conduction of an impulse along a nerve to a nerve center which receives the message and reflects or sends out another impulse to the region from which the message me. Tap the tendon just below the kneecap with a thin hook or with the edge of your hand as the subject sits with knees crossed, and the reflex action which results will surprise you — the leg kicks at you, if the subject does not restrain it. This is a classical instance of reflex action, and is commonly employed by physicians to determine whether the nerve paths concerned in it are sound and functioning. Just how it can explain counter irritation is more than I can understand, but the physiologist intimates that a blister or a hot liniment or anything like that sends a stimulating impulse to the nerve center which then se ds out some other impulse to the seat of disease, thus influencing congestion, inflammation, absorption of inflammatory exudates, and even pain. Take this or leave it as you will. I can't guarantee it.

When anything in the nature of counter-irritation is used in neuritis it is to be applied not on the skin over the painful area but at or near the place where the affected nerve leaves the spinal cord or brain.

ABSOLUTELY.

It was a lurid British melodrama, and one of the characters, a king, was harranguing his son. "Come," said the king, "let us go into the 'ouse."

"Did you hear that?" said a man in the stalls to his companion. "He said 'ouse."

Overhearing the remark, and fixing the interrupter with his eye, the king advanced to the footlights and exclaimed: "Yus, I said 'ouse! Did you think as 'ow a king would live in apartments?"—London Tid-Bits.

DON HILARITY IN READINESS FOR TONIGHT

Special Stunts Arranged For Initiation and Jinks At Auditorium; Big Events Planned For Near Future

An initiation jinks of the Dons of Peralta, the fourth to be held this year, will be held in the Municipal auditorium. At this time the thousand or so new members accepted in the membership drive Wednesday will be introduced to the mysteries of the caverns of torture constructed by the Dons under the municipal building, and will undergo the ordeal by necktie and sombrero.

A band of "Whiskerinos" of Sacramento will be the guests of honor of the Dons at the party tonight. Joe Herspring, "Chief Whiskerino" and the special ambassador of the Dons in Sacramento, will be at the head of the visiting delegation. The Sacramento business men will be accepted as honorary members of the local festival organization.

WILL CONTRIBUTE ACTS.

Each of the seven cities comprising the domain of Obapesla is to contribute an act toward the evening's entertainment. The committee in charge of the affair promises that an entirely different program will be presented tonight than was seen at any of the other initiations.

A main event will be the introduction of "Montezuma, 101st," the bull presented to the Dons by the Stockton members at the Stockton County fair, Saturday.

Then the entire personnel of the 100 Per Cent Club of Oakland will be marshaled on the floor to take the Obapesla oath of allegiance. This is the first of the Oakland service clubs to gain a 100 per cent. membership in the festival association.

WILL PLAY "OBAPESLA."

"Obapesla" the marching tune of the Dons, will be played for the first time by Don David C. Rosebrook, the composer and the leader of the Dons of Peralta band.

With their first carnival week less than a month away, the Dons are speeding up work on the various stunts and features to be presented. After practicing for weeks in separate units in each of the Obapesla cities, the Eastbay singers composing the chorus of a thousand voices are now rehearsing as a whole. The chorus will sound the opening of Obapesla week with a concert to be offered in the municipal theater the evening of September 24. Miss Zannette Potter is the director of the chorus.

A program of athletic events is being outlined which will include a boxing tournament in the municipal arena, water sports on Lake Merritt, and a number of competitive games at the ball park in Emeryville.

KING, QUEEN TO PRESIDE.

The court ball is to be presented as the crowning social events of the year. At this time the queen and king of Obapesla will be made known. They will then preside over Obapesla until the ball next year, when a new queen and king will be announced.

For two nights during the week Lake Merritt is to take on the appearance of the bay at Naples in carnival season. A fleet of barges lavishly decorated and illuminated and bearing the grandees of Obapesla will circle the lake, while overhead will be exhibited the most brilliant exhibit of fireworks ever presented in Oakland, according to the program.

Brush Fire Sweeps Calaveras Mountains

MISSION SAN JOSE, Aug. 27.—A brush fire, believed to have been started from a cigarette carelessly dropped by vacation campers riding through the canyon, swept across the ridge west of Calaveras creek, burning over a territory extending from the Mendoza ranch on the west to the Dougherty ranch on Calaveras creek on the east, a distance of more than three miles, and for a distance north and south of nearly two miles. Ranchers, their Sunday visitors, hunters and rangers of the Spring Valley Water Company finally controlled the fire and it was allowed to burn itself out. A quantity of wild game was driven from covert by the flames that swept fiercely through the brush and were only stopped by trenches dug in advance from which the brush was entirely cleared.

BUCK DINNER IS FEATURE OF OLD ACME CLUB RALLY

Members of the old Acme club, which years ago boasted of holding many records in athletics, yesterday gathered in the Redwood grove and commemorated their fourth annual reunion with a buck dinner.

Perhaps the busiest man at the dinner was the chief waiter, Jimmy Drew, who on other days afficiates as Oakland's chief of police. The members also took part in athletic contests such as running and jumping, and while no records were broken, proved themselves still active.

Among those present besides Chief Drew, were Judge J. J. Allen, Willis F. Sharpe, Jack Kitchen, former pugilist; Edward Dowdle, Myron Widden and James Shanly.

HOSTS TO FRIENDS.

NILES, Aug. 27.—Mrs. A. D. Price and Miss Undine Price were hostesses to thirty-five friends at their Niles canyon ranch Sunday afternoon. The day was spend in swimming, dancing and athletic sports, with dinner at 1 o'clock.

Comiskey Home Is Scene of Robbery

CHICAGO, Aug. 27 (International News Service).—Mrs. Grace Comiskey, daughter of Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the White Sox baseball team, today was in a state bordering on nervous collapse following her experience late last night when she and Edward ("Big Ed") Walsh, former big league pitcher, were held up in the Comiskey home in South Michigan avenue and robbed of jewelry valued at $10,000.

So serious was her condition that two detectives guarded the home all night to quiet her fears.

Mrs. Comiskey and Walsh were held up by two negro bandits when they went to the backyard to lock up the Comiskey pup for the night, after returning from the post graduate hospital, where they had visited Louis Comiskey, her husband.

Wife's Rages Base For Husband's Suit

Mrs. Carrie Dahl, according to a divorce complaint filed in the superior court today by William Dahl, frequently few into a violent rage and accused Dahl of flirting with other women, although he is innocent of the charge, he asserts. He cannot even invite his friends to the Dahl home for dinner, the complaint declares. The couple, who have no children, married January 1, 1921, and separated August 24.

BUDGET FOR CHARITY IS CONSIDERED

Associated Charities Pleads For $34,000; Uses For Which Money Is To Be Expended Are Outlined

The budget of the Associated Charities of Oakland and the Alameda Welfare Council was submitted to the board of supervisors today. The amount asked by the Associated Charities was $34,000, and by the welfare council, $6000, a total of $40,000 for charitable work for the coming year.

The allocation under the report of the welfare council was that 85 per cent of the appropriation asked will go to Oakland and its outlying districts, 10 per cent to the Berkeley Welfare society for Berkeley and Albany, and 5 per cent to the Alameda Social Service board. The latter two percentages amount to $4000 and $2000 respectively.

In conjunction with this report, the statement was submitted from the Oakland Associated Charities over the signature of William Cavalier, its president, showing that, of the amount asked by that body, $29,980 will go for salaries and $3825 for overhead expense. In making this request, Cavalier wrote as follows:

"If you will show your confidence in us by granting this budget we will do our part by developing a policy designed to so check poverty at its ource so that it cannot breed delinquency, illness and still more poverty."

It was shown to the board of supervisors that the indigent fund of the association receives $405,000 from state and county sources and $24,000 from private sources. The result of a survey of the indigent situation in the county was reported to the board as showing that, on August 1 last, there were 1009 families receiving charitible aid and 197 children under the supervision of the association placed in 107 foster homes.

A. W. Earl, formerly connected with the naval designing bureau, was today appointed to assist George Posey, county surveyor, in formulating plans for the new estuary tube. Earl will receive a salary of $425 a month, and will be retained as long as Posey desires his services.

A contract was let by the board to the Oakland Paving company for paving the county's portion of Union street in front of the Detention Home.

U. S. JUDGES PUT BAN ON BAIL FIXERS

U. S. Marshal Unders Orders to Clear Corridors of S. F. Federal Courts of All Objectionable Loiterers

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—Bail bond brokers, "fixers" and tipsters are to be banished from the corridors of the federal building. United States Judges John Partridge and William C. Van Fleet sat en banc today and delivered an ultimatum which was listened to by the representatives of the United States attorney's office. They directed that the United States marshal clear the hallways and passages of obnoxious individuals, including loiterers, court hangers-on and systers of the jury-fixing tribe.

In a formal resolution making the court order the judges stated plainly that the crowded corridors had contained men whose remarks on cases could be heard by jurors and that witnesses were likely to be intimidated by their presence. The United States marshal will arrest any who have no business in the hallways and others must find seats in the courtroom or leave the building.

Mrs. Hartz is survived by three children, Henry Hartz of Martinez, and Mrs. Hannah Harrison and Mrs. Hiram Elliott, both of Danville.

New University High School Has 1236 Pupils

THE first week of service has just been completed by the new University high school, which occupies a whole city block at Fifty-fifth and Grove streets, with an enrollment of 1236 pupils and a constant visiting list of hundreds of North Oakland citizens throughout the week.

The school is the first high school unit completed under the 1919 bond issue. The site cost $105,000 and the building $546,468. The structure is two stories in height, of the Spanish Colonial type and with an irregular roof line. The school has many classrooms, music rooms, cooking rooms, science rooms and rows of shops, as well as generous allotments of space for physical training and the R. O. T. C. The auditorium is one of the largest and finest of the kind in the West.

F. H. Boren is the principal. The building was designed for 1200 students and is already crowded.

Alcohol Claims Another Victim

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—Wood alcohol claimed another victim today when Judge Gaston, 38 years old, of 753 Howard street, died at the Central Emergency hospital, after being picked up last night, blinded from the effects of the poison. Gaston was found on the Embarcadero, about 8 o'clock. He had lost his sight and was groping about. At the hospital it was found that he had been drinking and the physicians believe that some of the beverages partaken of contained wood alcohol.

AIR BASE PLANS ARE APPROVED

Work to Begin at Once For Establishment of Army Flying Field on Government Island; Is Endorsed

With the endorsement by army aviators from Crissy Field and by the officers of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce for the establishment of an army flying field on Government Island, work on the establishment of the airplane base will begin immediately, it was announced today.

The chamber of commerce announced today that approval had been placed on the plans for the field, and that all possible support would be given Lieutenant Bates, reserve corps, who is directing the project.

Captain A. S. Herold of Crissy Field surveyed the plans of Bates Saturday and gave them his approval.

"While the army is not actively engaged in the immediate establishment of the flying field on Government Island, it is entirely in sympathy with the movement, and it will not be long before the field is taken over as an official army airplane base," said Captain Herold. "The plans of Lieutenant Bates for the construction of the field are satisfactory for the needs of the army."

"A Single Manufacturer Who Does Not Participate Will Defeat the Ideal"

An Editorial from The Oakland Tribune of August 22d About the Third Annual Eastbay Manufacturers' Exposition

Accomplishments of the Eastbay in industry, the variety and quality of manufactured output are better understood by the citizens in general than they were two or three years ago. In spite of the fact that these two or three years have brought more than two hundred new manufacturing plants to the community this wider realization has come.

Perhaps the growth of Oakland and the Eastbay into the leading industrial center on the Pacific Coast is responsible for a justifiable pride which, in turn, has caused men to look for the facts and master the details of the city development. Certainly enterprises like the Eastbay Manufacturers Exposition have been of aid.

The Manufacturers' Exposition will be of service each year. To the thousands of newcomers to the Eastbay it will present the whole story of industrial greatness. To the older citizens it will reveal the latest chapter, the record of another twelve months, in relation to that which has gone before. When close to one hundred new industries come to Oakland in a single year one can see how important is this opportunity for an informal introduction to the public.

Three years ago the first Eastbay Manufacturers' Exposition was held and more than 120,000 persons were shown what is being done in the factories of their community. Last year, the second exposition eclipsed the first and established itself as among the most important contributions to civic spirit. It furnished that knowledge of achievement upon which firm belief in the Eastbay is based; it astonished the thousands with the proof of our manufacturing greatness.

Next month, from September 22d to 30th, the third annual Exposition will be held. It will reflect the industrial development by being much greater than the second, even as the second was larger than the first. It is the object, of course, that the Exposition be complete. A SINGLE MANUFACTURER WHO DOES NOT PARTICIPATE WILL DEFEAT THE IDEAL.

WITH THE MANUFACTURERS OF THE COMMUNITY SOLIDLY AND ENTHUSIASTICALLY BEHIND THE PROJECT AND WITH THE DATE OF THE EXPOSITION COINCIDENT WITH THAT OF THE FIESTA DE LA LAGUNA, THERE IS UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY THIS YEAR FOR THE EASTBAY TO IMPRESS ITS INDUSTRIAL ADVANTAGES AND ACHIEVEMENTS UPON ITS OWN CITIZENS, THE STATE AND THE COUNTRY.

S. shipments last week totaled 1210 cars compared with 651 the week before. Arkansas, Iowa, Kansas and Missouri reported light scattered movements during the week.

Grape auction prices were generally lower this week. On eight of the leading auctions Malagas in crates averaged 1.90 compared with 2.38 a week ago. The weekly average for this variety by cities is given as follows: Baltimore 2.37; Boston, 2.35; Chicago, 1.83; Minneapolis, 2.30; New York, 1.78; Philadelphia, 2.05; Pittsburgh, 2.43; St. Louis, 2.21. New York's average was 96c lower than last week and Chicago was down 20c. Baltimore & Boston were down about 35c while Minneapolis, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh & St. Louis show advances ranging from 11-87c.

The weekly average for lugs Thompsons on eight leading auctions was 99c compared with the crate average of $1.05 last week. Weighted averages for the week are given as follows: Boston, $1.01; Chicago, 91c; Cincinnati, $1.18; Minneapolis, $1.29 New York, $1.06; Philadelphia, 74c; Pittsburgh, $1.07; St. Louis, $1.12. Boston, Cincinnati and New York show slight advances, while others are slightly lower to 39c lower in Chicago. These averages, however, are not strictly comparable, because last week's crate average would ordinarily be slightly higher than lugs.

PEAR PEAK OVER.

California pear shipments declined materially in the week and totaled 336 cars compared with 508 the preceding week. Most shipments originated in the northern part of the state. Only 8 cars were reported moving to canners during the week. U. S. shipments declined during the last half of the week, but the total of 1245 cars was only two less than reported the preceding week. Pear supplies for the country are now being drawn from a number of eastern producing sections but the Western states of California, Washington, Oregon and Colorado furnish the bulk of the movement.

The peak of the pear prices seemed to have been passed about the first of the week. Heavier receipts from the Northwest and Colorado depressed the markets slightly and the weekly average for California Bartletts on nine principal auctions was down a little to 3.29 compared with 3.37 the week before. Weekly averages for these cities are given as follows: Baltimore, 4.01; Boston, 3.27; Chicago, 3.18; Cincinnati, 3.10; Minneapolis, 3.70; New York, 3.25; Philadelphia, 3.09; Pittsburgh, 3.87; St. Louis, 3.20. Advances are noted for Baltimore, Boston, Minneapolis, Pittsburgh and St. Louis, ranging up to 73c higher in Pittsburgh. Declines of 21c in New York, 8c in Chicago, 34c in Philadelphia are noted by a comparison with previous week's averages.

PEACHES DECLINING.

Peach shipments from California to eastern markets have been very light during the week, only 154 being reported, compared with 248 the week before. Shipments to canners were about the same as last week and were reported at 370 cars. Total California shipments reported to date including canners stock, amount to 6732 cars. The peach movement for the United States increased last week to 1179 cars, compared with 846 the previous week. No one district is shipping heavily but the combined volume of small forwardings over a larger territory accounts for the increase.

California's movement now consists mostly of clings, and because of the clean-up of Elbertas and the intermittent receipt of various varieties, it was difficult to compile auction ranges for the week. Slight advances accompanying lighter supply on the auctions were as might have been expected but they were comparatively low at the top. Weekly averages for Elbertas were as follows: Boston, $1.40; Chicago, 99c; Minneapolis, $1.07; New York, $1.38; Pittsburgh, 78c. The weighted average for these auctions was $1.03 per box, compared with 81c the week previous.

DIVIDEND CUT BY PRODUCERS AND REFINERS

Overproduction of Crude Oil Declared Cause of Reduced Returns.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Stockholders of the Producers and Refiners' corporation, meeting here today, declared a dividend of 50 cents a share, payable September 15, to stockholders of record September 14.

Today's dividend was 5 cents a share less than had been declared for two previous quarters this year.

Present over-production of crude oil in the United States and reductions in gasoline prices were given as the cause for reducing the dividend in a statement by Frank E. Kistler, chairman of the board of directors, following the meeting.

The directors of the company believe that present conditions call for economy as well as a conservation of resources, the statement said, adding that it may become desirable for the company to store large stocks of crude oil and distressed refining products of which the company now has no surplus.

This year's estimated earnings of $7,000,000 compares with $4,377,058.28 for 1922. Earnings this year will be distributed among the holders of 730,000 shares of stock outstanding.

Indicated earnings for the full year approximate $7,000,000 after making allowance for the recent reduction in prices, it was announced. The company, according to the statement, now has a daily crude production of 20,000 barrels which can be increased at will and within the next thirty days will have completed its daily refining capacity to 20,000 barrels, together with additional pipe line and storage facilities. The company, the announcement declared, has long term favorable contracts for the sale of the major portion of the output of its refineries.

Two swam ashore. The bodies of Chapman and his daughter were recovered.

Judith Mary, Lady Ward, is also granted $500 "in recognition of the services rendered by her husband, the late Sir John Leslie Ward," as an artist.

BUSINESS and FINANCE

By H. S. SCOTT.

Marked irregularity characterized the opening of today's New York stock market with the main tendency apparently upward. United States Steel, Baldwin and American Woolen opened higher, while Studebaker, American Can and Corn Products yielded slightly. Davison Chemical advanced 1½ to 41¼, as a new high for the year.

Strength of the sugar shares was the feature of the early dealings, which showed an improved tone as trading progressed. Cuba Cane Sugar preferred advanced 1¾ and Punta Alegre 1⅝, with gains of a point or so in all other active issues. Davison Chemical extended its advance to 2⅝. United Cigar Stores opened at 196 and advanced to 200 on the next sale. The previous closing price was 176. Foreign exchanges opened slightly lower.

The main body of stock showed little reflection of the strength displayed by the sugars and Davison Chemical, which climbed nearly 4 points to 43⅛. The threatened suspension of work in the anthracite mines on September 1 was regarded in some quarters as a restraining influence in trading. Heaviness cropped out in stocks of some of the hard coal carriers, particularly in Erie common and first preferred and Lackawanna. Good gains were registered by some of the now-priced oils, Barnsdall A rising 4½ points, the B-2 and the Marland 1.

Call money opened at 5 per cent.

Buying of representative railroad shares, many of which advanced 1 to 1½ points, and an advance in prices of refined sugar imparted a stimulating influence to the early afternoon market. Speculation broadened and became more active. Woolworth soared 7¾ to 259, a new high figure. The Pan-American, Gulf States Steel, Cosden preferred, U. S. Alcohol, Owens Bottle, American Agricultural preferred and Virginia Carolina preferred sold 2 to 2¾ above yesterday's final figures. Davison Chemical touched 44½ and then fell back 2 points.

SOUTHERN ARIZONA POWER BONDS OFFERED TODAY.

The fourth Arizona public utility issue to be offered to California investors is being placed on the market today by a syndicate composed of Stephens & Company, San Francisco; T. B. Crews Jr. & Company, New York, and John E. Price & Company, Seattle.

The present offering is $675,000 Southern Arizona Power Company first and refunding mortgage 6½ per cent bonds, due in 1938 and priced at 95½ and interest to yield 7 per cent.

The Southern Arizona Power Company, which is the successor by consolidation to the Arizona Gas and Electric Company and the Nogales Electric Light and Power Company, owns and operates electric and gas generating and distributing systems serving without competition the city of Nogales, Ariz., and surrounding territory. The company also owns and operates two modern ice manufacturing plants with a daily capacity of 66 tons, supplying ice for retail consumption and under contract with the Pacific Fruit Express Company for the icing of refrigerator cars passing through Nogales, which is the southern icing station of the Southern Pacific railroad for fruit and vegetable shipments.

The population of the territory served has increased 174 per cent in the past ten years.

The bonds, upon completion of the present financing will be a first mortgage, subject to $246,000 bonds of one of the predecessor companies, valued at $1,307,000.

Net earnings for the first four months of consolidated operation were over twice all interest charges, and after providing for prior charges were 2.04 times requirements on the first and refunding 6½s.

The remarkable growth of Arizona in recent years has created a demand for Arizona Public Utility bonds, and previous offerings have been well received.

TOO MUCH STRESS DECLARED LAID ON WHEAT PRICES.

In its first Financial Letter published under the transfer of the former American National Bank of San Francisco to the American Bank issued today it said:

"There is no need for undue pessimism. Too much stress has been laid on the fact that wheat has sold below a dollar a bushel in primary markets. It seems to be overlooked that wheat is not the only crop, or even the principal crop, produced on the farms. As a matter of fact, wheat does not begin to equal corn, either in quantity or value, and the price of corn is much above last year's prices. As an illustration of how the farmers are affected, here is what a Minneapolis banker says about Minnesota, one of the great wheat states: In this state last year, according to government figures, the state raised of wheat 27,000,000 bushels and of corn 131,000,000 bushels. Wheat is selling at 25 cents a bushel less than a year ago; corn is selling at 23 cents a bushel more than a year ago. . . . The advance in the price of corn will make our corn crop worth about $35,000,000 more, while the decline in wheat makes that crop worth $7,000,000 less than if price had not declined."

"Without doubt this showing is typical of what might be found in other sections. The corn crop is nearly four times as large as the wheat crop, and the corn farmers are not suffering. Nor are the producers of cotton, tobacco and other important agricultural products. But wheat is the rallying cry of politicians who want to do something for the oppressed farmer, and incidentally, for themselves; and all sorts of remedies, mostly nostrums, are prescribed. None of which will nullify the operation of the ancient law of supply and demand. In this connection it might be pertinent to quote a recent utterance of an Alameda county farmer and publicist, Mr. John P. Irish: 'My advice is to quit helping the farmer; to quit taxing him to create competitors in his business, and so put the business of farming back in the hands of men who have initiative and a natural taste for the business. In other words, stop treating the farmer as the only business man who must be treated as needful of continual charity, and make him rely upon himself or quit.'"

WIRE SUMMARY

BUSINESS

The company, successor by purchase and consolidation to the Arizona Gas & Electric Company and the Nogales Electric Light & Power Company, owns and operates the electric and gas generating and distributing systems serving, without competition, the city of Nogales, Arizona, and surrounding territory. The Company also owns and operates two modern ice manufacturing plants with a daily capacity of sixty-six tons, supplying ice for retail cosumption and for the icing of refrigerator cars passing through the port of Nogales, which is the regular icing station of the Southern Pacific Railroad System. The territory has been served by the predecessor companies for over thirty-one years.

ARIZONA—
A Virgin Investment Field

Because one of the fastest growing states in the Union has had little out-of-state financing to do in the past, bonds of her strong public utility companies may now be purchased at more attractive prices than other utility bonds of equal security.

The population of the territory served by THE SOUTHERN ARIZONA POWER COMPANY has increased 174% in the past ten years, and we consider these bonds, backed as they are by substantial equities and good earning power, to be very attractive on a 7% basis.

SECURITY

Upon completion of this financing, these bonds, in the opinion of counsel, will be a First Mortgage (subject only to $246,100 First Mortgage Bonds of one of the predecessor companies) on all the properties of the Company, valued in 1922 at $1,307,000 by Arthur R. Kelley, well-known valuation engineer, formerly electrical engineer for the Railroad Commission of the State of California. Based upon this valuation the Company's funded debt upon completion of this financing will be about 70% of the appraisal value of the property.

EARNINGS

For the four months ended July 31, 1923, (the first months of operation under consolidation) net earnings were at an annual rate of $120,922.41, or over twice interest charges on the entire funded debt, upon the completion of this financing, and after providing for payment of interest on the Arizona Gas & Electric Company 6s, equivalent to 2.4 times interest charges on $675,000 Southern Arizona Power Company First and Refunding 6½s.

The accounts of the predecessor companies have been examined by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Company.

Legal proceedings relative to the issuance of these bonds have been passed upon by Messrs. Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher of Los Angeles, and Messrs. Armstrong, Lewis & Kramer, of Phoenix.

TERRITORY

Nogales is the center of a rich agricultural, mining and cattle raising district and is the headquarters and principal port of entry to the United States, of the Arizona Customs District, providing a large import and export trade, the total volume of which for the year ended March 31, 1923, was in excess of $13,500,000. Nogales is the southern terminus of the Southern Pacific Railroad and the northern terminus of the Southern Pacific Railroad of Mexico, which is now expending $14,000,000 to connect its lines with the National Railways of Mexico, thus providing the shortest direct route from Mexico City to California, and making Nogales a highly important terminal point. The population of greater Nogales is about 22,000 and has increased 174% during the past ten years.

TRADE OF COAST SHOWS BIG GAINS OVER 1922 MARK

Eleven Lines of Wholesale Business Report Increase To Federal Reserve.

"The volume of business transacted throughout the twelfth district during July was considerably larger than a year ago," according to a summary of business conditions in the Twelfth Federal Reserve district, made public today by John Perrin, chairman of the board and federal reserve agent.

In comparing figures of the late spring, some falling off was reported, but such a decline is a normal seasonal occurrence, the statement said.

The summary follows:

"Trade at retail, as indicated by sales of thirty-five department stores in seven cities, was 19.8 per cent greater in value during July, 1923, than during July, 1922, the largest increase, as compared with the corresponding month a year ago, reported since March, 1923. Stocks of merchandise held by these stores are slightly larger than one year ago, but the rate of turnover is more rapid than it was at that time. All of the eleven lines of wholesale trade which report to this bank, excepting agricultural implements and automobile tires, transacted a larger volume of business during July, 1923, than during July, 1922, the increases in the value of their sales ranging from 7.5 to 20.3 per cent. Despite a decline which was in excess of the normal seasonal movement between June and July, debits to individual accounts at banks in twenty-one clearing house centers during the latter month were 18.4 per cent greater than one year ago. This increase is slightly less than that reported for the first six months of the present year, but is still in excess of the increase in prices over the year period, and undoubtedly indicates a substantial gain in the physical volume of business transacted. Figures of the number and liabilities of business failures are now at normal levels. The number of failures in the district was less in July than in June, 1923, and liabilities were less than in any month since May, 1921, excepting June, 1923.

LUMBER STATISTICS

"Production and shipment of lumber declined during July, but the amount of new business entered on the books of reporting mills increased for the first time since April. This increase in the demand for lumber came at a time when mills were completing delivery on the record volume of orders received during the first quarter of the year. A shortage of mill stocks of lumber is still reported in many sections. The effect upon production of continued dull markets and declining prices for the principal metals produced in the district became apparent in the preliminary production figures for July. The output of lead, silver, and zinc was noticeably curtailed, and although figures of copper production showed no decline from the previous month, reports of a reduction in output became increasingly frequent toward the close of the period. Further gains in the production of petroleum were reported from California during July, the record for the past two months standing as follows:

Average daily production (bbls.): July, 1923, 814,906; June, 1923, 750,-570; July, 1922, 373,695.

OIL SHIPMENTS.

Shipments were far below production and stored stocks increased from 72,637,147 barrels on July 1, to 78,655,604 barrels on August 1. Prices of both crude oil and gasoline were reduced on August 1, and the latter product is now selling in Pacific coast cities at the lowest levels since 1916. A slight decline in the volume of building under construction and a marked decline in prospective construction, as indicated by the number and value of building permits issued, was reported during the past month. That building continues extremely active, however, is shown by the fact that the present and prospective volume of construction is considerably greater than it was one year ago, when the building industry was experiencing a period of greaer than normal activity. Shortages of certain classes of labor which seemed possible a month ago did not materialize during July. Laborers are everywhere reported fully employed.

BOUNTIFUL CROPS.

"Promise of bountiful yields of most of the principal crops of the district has been contained in reports received from the harvest fields. The wheat crop which is now moving to market is the largest which has been produced in the district in recent years, present estimates forecasting a total yield of 136,739,000 bushels compared with 99,086,000 bushels produced in 1922, 125,548,000 bushels in 1921, and 105,-807,000 bushels in 1920. Yields of the important fruit crops of the district are well up to the average of previous seasons, and transportation facilities for their rapid movement to market are better than they have been for some years past.

"The general trend of all prices was downward during July, the prices of most of the principal agricultural products of this district, particularly wheat and California fruits, sharing in the general movement. Prices of non-agricultural products in many cases reached the low point of the present downward movement during the month, and turned upward during its closing days or in the first weeks of August. Prices of lumber, lead, and zinc were included in this latter category. Building material prices, according to the index number of the United States Department of Labor decreased 2.06 per cent during the month and are now 6.8 per cent below the peak of April, 1923, although still 11.7 per cent higher than one year ago.

BANKING PROGRESS.

"Loans of reporting member banks of the district increased by $16,000,000 during the four week period ending August 8, and their deposits declined by $11,000,000 during the same period. These movements reflect, to a large extent, the credit needs of the district in harvesting and moving its crops. Total discounts of the Federal Reserve Bank declined $8,000,000 during the four weeks ending August 15, and at $73,000,000 on the latter date were $42,000,000 above the low point of January 10, 1923.

EASTERN MARKETS

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Wheat started with an irregular range today, the market being almost featureless during the early dealings. The September delivery was relatively easy on some local and commission house selling. Wet weather over most of the wheat crop belt caused a little support and firmness of cable news also brought out some buying. Opening prices, which varied from ⅜c decline to ⅜c advance, with December $1.07⅜ to $1.07⅝ and May $1.12½ to $1.12¾, were followed by a slight rise all around.

Corn was in fair demand for the different months but September was weak on local selling. After starting ⅛c up to ⅜c down, with December 67⅝ to 67¾c, the corn market underwent a moderate general recovery. Further delay to threshing as a result of wet weather gave firmness to the oats market. After starting ⅛c lower to ⅜c higher, with December 40¼ to 40⅜c, values held close to the initial figures.

Provisions were steady in line with hog values.

Volney Taylor of Byron Dies Suddenly

BYRON, Aug. 27.—Volney Taylor, pioneer and one of the wealthiest men of Contra Costa county, died suddenly at 5:30 o'clock last evening, from heat exhaustion, at his country estate, a mile from Byron. He had gone into the field during irrigation work and the heat of the afternoon affected him greatly. At 5 o'clock he was stricken, falling in the yard, his cry being heard by members of the family.

He was a native of Canada and came to Byron 53 years ago. He was 72 years of age. He owned a large estate, but recently sold all but 200 acres. He is survived by a widow and one son, Everett Taylor, an attorney, and a brother residing in Hanford. He was a Mason, a Shriner and an Odd Fellow.

Eugene, Ore., Youth Is Killed On Hunt

EUGENE, Ore., Aug. 27. — Robert M. McLean, 18, Eugene high school student, was shot and killed in a hunting accident on the Siuslaw river, 30 miles from here yesterday. The shot that killed McLean was fired by Professor R. G. Thompson of Reno, Nev., instructor in the University of Nevada, as McLean moved out of the brush toward a wounded deer he had shot.

Altoona Constructs Fast New Speedway

ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 27.—(By Associated Press.)—Altoona's new speedway will be the fastest track in the world and new world's speed records for racing motor cars are likely when the first event is held on Labor day, in the opinions of Jack Prince, the builder, and O. H. Halbe, veteran driver. Both men predict a speed of 124 miles an hour when fifteen noted drivers meet in the opening race.

LEVEL OF STOCK MARKET SHOWS LITTLE CHANGE

Speculative Public Believed Paying Much Attention to Signs of Business Gain.

By ALLEN L. WETMORE, of Wm. Cavalier & Company.

During the past week the position of the stock market has remained practically unchanged. Volume of trading has increased somewhat and stocks, with the exception of the oils, have remained generally firm despite continued unfavorable foreign news and disturbing developments in the anthracite miners' controversy. The ability of the market to withstand these bearish factors indicates that the speculative public is paying close attention to the signs of increased buying which is evidenced in several lines and to the more confident atmosphere which prevails in business circles.

Oil stocks remain weak but despite the initiation of dividend cuts by the Ohio Oil company (one of the Standard Oil group) and Producers and Refiners company, and the flood of disturbing reports, we are of the opinion that present conditions are fully discounted. It is significant that operators are showing no disposition to short stocks of this group at present prices.

RAILWAY SHARES.

Railroad shares have failed to keep pace with industrials during the present movement for the reason that while the carriers are enjoying the heaviest volume of freight traffic in history with the resulting large gross income, this net as indicated by the publishing of some of the July statements is something of a disappointment due to the unusually heavy apportionment to maintainânce.

Stocks of the steel groups have been particularly active on news of increased buying by railroads and motor companies and we look for a continuance of strength in this group. Steel production is being maintained at about the same rate as in June, which is approximately 15 per cent below the peak of April and about 5 to 10 per cent above the high rate of 1922 reached in the fourth quarter.

STEEL PRICES.

Finished steel prices are being maintained for the time being, but with the decreasing of unfilled tonnage, mills are beginning to bid for business which may result in the usual price cutting by the independents. Scrap prices are increasing and pig iron prices, which have remained stationary for some time, are in line for an advance. Labor difficulties, which have been reported during the change to the eight-hour schedule in the mills, are due to misunderstandings on the part of the workmen and are not taken seriously.

7M MEDICAL

Willits, Cal.
To Whom It May Concern:
It affords me much pleasure to express my approval of the FONG WAN HERB CO. I suffered from liver and stomach troubles for twenty years. After X-ray and other examinations, medical physicians pronounced my case a surgical one. They declared that no treatment could reach the seat of my trouble. They said that the operation would consist of removing a duodenal ulcer, my appendix and my gall bladder; also that there would have to be a pyloric operation.
Dreading the operating table, I took up treatment with the FONG WAN HERB CO. of 548 Eighth st., Oakland. At that time I weighed but 126 pounds, my normal weight being 170 pounds. My condition in general was very weak.
After three months' use of the herbs, I went to work handling lumber, ten hours each day. Have now held the job fourteen months and have not lost a day on account of my old trouble. It is the first time I have been able to go longer than three months in twenty years without being sick in bed. I feel that I can give the FONG WAN HERB TREATMENT credit for my life. My present weight is 160 pounds.
I beg of those who have serious or minor organic troubles that are causing them disability or weakness, to consult the FONG WAN HERBALIST, whom I believe to be honest and perfectly capable of doing what he says he can do.
For further information address me at 101 Oak ave., Willits, Calif.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN
I take this method of expressing my sentiments of appreciation to Dr. Wong Him for the wonderful cures he has effected in cases where several members of my family, including myself, were afflicted with various maladies.
I also desire to be the means of guiding anyone who is in need of medical advice, as he will find Dr. Wong Him to be a thoroughly reliable health specialist and absolutely conscientious. Through an occurrence experienced by a member of my family I can, with the greatest regard for sincerity, state that after a consultation, unless Dr. Wong Him is convinced that his herbs will effect a complete cure, he will under no circumstances accept the case.
Very truly yours,

The Drugstore Tenor

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

WALLIE CRUMP, soda jerker at the Minden drug store, was fat and the possessor of a thin tenor voice. As he mixed drinks he gave the thirsty world a feast of song. Save when he was shaking an egg concoction, his tenor, subdued to a six or eight foot range, could be heard by all who sat close to the counter.

Wallie was known as the drug store tenor. Remarks intended to be humorous fell on his ears as praise. "I know I have a good voice," he said. "It isn't my fault or my doing, so why not be proud of it? Just you wait, some day I'll be making them weep and wail. What'll it be, vaniller or strorberry?"

As Wallie was neat and handsome on a genial and generous plan, he was not without admirers. He decided that many of those young women who sat pensively sucking syrups through a straw came not for the drink but for song. When Flossie Kane slipped onto a stool and dabbled with a colorful mixture, he put unusual effort into the rendering of tender ballads and felt certain he was scoring a hit.

"The girl," said Wallie to his reflection in the mirror, "is all but weeping into her glass."

Flossie became a daily visitor. She smiled happily while Wallie, with shakers in hand, gave vigorous attention to the mixture of the drink. Then, puffing a bit, he told her by way of muffled tenor that the night has a thousand eyes or that someone was mahty lak a rose. As Flossie remarked to herself each day as she left the place, it was all too lovely and romantic!

It was not long before Flossie and Wallie were meeting outside the drugstore. They went rowing and driving together and seemed so happy whenever they were seen on the street that the editor of The Minden Messenger composed a piece to the effect that "Dame Rumor is whispering it about that the little birds ar saying that wedding bells will soon be ringing for a well known young tenor and one of Minden's fairest daughters."

"It means us," said Flossie, who was not slow at recognizing descriptions. "My, what a nerve some people have!"

"All the same," ventured the well known tenor, "the man has the right idea. What do you say, Flossie, shall we make the item come true?"

Minden's fairest daughter buried her head on Wallie's shoulder, and when he walked home with head up and his heels striking hard, he sang for the night to hear something to the effect that everything was all right in the world.

"Flossie," said Wallie the next day. "I want you to be honest and not try to flatter me or anything, but what was it about me that first attracted you?"

Flossie knitted her brows and pretended thought while Wallie stirred uneasily. It was his voice, of course, the songs he sang to her over the counter. She was teasing him by not answering. Wallie hummed a bit as a hint.

"You want me to be honest," Flossie was making a ceremony of the answer.

"Absolutely."

"Then it was the funny faces you make when you shake egg-nogs." Tomorrow—The Sheriff and the Girl.

"BLACK GOLD"

A Mystery Detective Story of Alameda County

By GEO. C. HENDERSON

SYNOPSIS.

Napoleon Knott becomes involved in a treasure hunt for lost gold when Captain Soto Mayor and Felipe Ramon both are attacked and their feet burned to torture them into revealing the secret. Soto Mayor dies and old Felipe crazily rejoices because the secret is now safe. "They'll never make me tell," he declares.

Knott, by a ruse, gets to see Felipe's feet, finds red marks on them, tells Old Felipe Soto Mayor has sent him and induces the recluse to go with him to the Nuevo Mundo. When Old Felipe finds Captain Soto Mayor dead he laughs wildly and declares that his "secret is safe."

Knott tells Inspector Scott, who arrives on the scene, something of what he has discovered. They decide the same thug did up Soto Mayor and attacked Felipe. Two police officers searching the ship unearth shovels, picks, retorts, other treasure hunting tools. They decide the Captain was hunting a gold mine. One of the crew tells that before death Captain Soto Mayor kept motioning toward a statuette until his daughter took it in her hands, and kept saying "oro negro," meaning "black gold." Inspector Scott threatens to arrest Racquel and the crew.

Night comes, revealing Knott, Scott and the officers still on the Nuevo Mundo, awaiting doctor's permission to see Racquel, who is greatly perturbed. Stone conspires with Boogerty to prevent Knott from falling in love with Racquel. The "armored cruiser" invincible, manned by youngsters from the Dump, playing at naval warfare, is chased away by Inspector Scott as it hovers around the Nuevo Mundo.

Answering the scream, the Inspector, Napoleon Knott and the others enter the girl's stateroom to find Racquel, clothes torn, cowering back in terror, while Boogerty sits astride Old Felipe, holding his hands to the floor. Knott consoles Racquel, who tells how the old recluse had entered her room to attack her when the negro interfered. In order to distract Knott's attention from Racquel, Boogerty blows on the police whistle and goes into contortions, as per his agreement with Stone. He says he is "breakin de spell of Venus." Knott hears Racquel to let him be her big daddy. On the floor he finds the broken statuette, with a sheet of onion skin paper protruding from the severed neck. Evidently Old Felipe was after this. It might explain why the Captain was so anxious his daughter should take the statuette. Knott picks it up. Racquel demands its return. Knott argues that it is evidence. They are about to agree when Boogerty again interrupts with his whistle blowing and contortions. Racquel grabs the document. Knott chases the negro out and, returning, finds she has locked the door against him.

Stone reveals that Knott is very susceptible to feminine lure; that he has lost other cases because of this susceptibility, and charges that already the fat detective is crazy about Racquel. Finding it impossible to quiz the girl, Inspector Scott leaves Knott and an officer on guard and goes ashore with Stone, Old Felipe and the negro. While Knott is on guard alone, a form sneaks aboard. It is Red Dan, powerful crook boss, Knott's most deadly enemy. He knocks on Racquel's door and presents her with letter of introduction, but Knott by clever strategy prevents him talking with Racquel and ushers him off the ship. Red Dan gives Knott until 10 o'clock to leave the city under pain of death.

The police officer says Red Dan is a bad bird to offend. Knott scoffs. Knott has breakfast with Racquel who puzzles him. Knott threatens to tell the police about the statuette paper. She promises to show it to him if he will not. Scott and Stone interrupt them. Scott, Stone and others discuss seriously Red Dan's ultimatum. Scott advises Knott to leave. Scott reveals that Tom Cannon, a taxicab man who hauled the man with the big box, has been slain near Livermore. Knott reveals a connection between the Soto Mayor, oro negro, footburning crime and the Cannon crook. Knott says, "Find the man who kidnaped Tom Cannon and you'll have the Soto Mayor assassin."

Knott, going to his room via automobile, discovers by a trick that he is being trailed. Much to the disgust of Boogerty and Stone, who think he should either flee or try to attack Red Dan himself, Knott takes a shower, changes his linen and indulges in a hearty breakfast. He orders Stone to hid nap Stella, alias the Toad, take her to a lumber wharf house, divest her of her disguise and lock her up. Knott then prepares for a ride on the lake in his motorboat, taking with him a suitcase, with clothes, hat, overcoat, a bust of General Grant, pillows and a bottle of red ink. Ray Turner, the little blind boy, comes in to report that the gang are out to protect Knott and that Red Dan's men have surrounded his house. He begs Knott not to take a chance. With the negro's assistance Knott gets into his launch and goes across the lake, while Boogerty sits on a park bench waiting for him to return.

While Boogerty sits on the park bench, an officer comes up, saying he has been assigned to guard Knott against attack. A big car comes up, a rifle is poked out and shots are fired, hitting Knott as he sits in the launch, bowling him over. The launch, unguided, goes out into the middle of the lake, careens, throwing Knott's unconscious figure into the water where he sinks. Stone comes up in a flivver, decides that Knott has been shot with a rifle with a silencer on it. They find the abandoned launch, covered with blood, where it has beached. Leaving the officer on guard, Stone notifies Inspector's Bureau of the location of the launch, and then he and Boogerty plan revenge.

Stone goes to old Felipe's house, finds it has been ransacked, discovers the goat dying, lifts up the animal, finds the secret document hidden in its hair, finds himself staring into a gun held by a masked man, is kidnapped by a gang and carried off to an underground prison.

A person, disguised, enters the Gates of Hell Tavern, Red Dan's joint, is greeted as Stella by Dan, who gives her a tray to take to a prisoner. The route leads through underground passages and trapdoors to the hangout, where Chicago Slim, Slugger Wilson, Gorilla, Eddy the Torch and other crooks are in hiding. Gorilla takes Stella into a cell to "Toad" Stone, held there. Here Stella reveals herself to Stone as Napoleon Knott, supposedly dead, but now in the den of crooks, disguised. Knott tells Stone that Federal officers are watching the place, ready to raid it as soon as they can open it up.

Red Dan reveals to the gang the circumstances attached to the document secured from Stone and intrusts it to Gleeson, confidence man, to read to them for discussion. Dan insists that Knott come with him. Knott accompanies Dan to another floor and there finds Racquel, held as a guest by Red Dan. While Dan and Racquel are at breakfast, Knott ransacks the girl's thing for the onion skin paper in vain. He replaces everything by the time the pair return.

Puzzled Crooks.

(Copyright, 1923. All Rights Reserved).

Again Knott had an impulse to pull his gun on Red Dan, make him prisoner, handcuff him and carry the girl to safety. He rejected the plan the next instant. It would be like deserting the ship. His investigation had progressed rapidly. He was in a strategical position, within the very stronghold of his enemy, cognizant of all his plans, acting as one of his most trusted lieutenants. To throw away this advantage merely because of a foolish fear would be worse than cowrdly, since it involved the desertion of Guy Stone.

It wa doubtful also whether Racquel would go with him. She seemed to be greatly infatuated with Dan.

He realized a moment later that it was curiosity and not hostility that had prompted Dan's keen scrutiny. The boss wanted to learn what success he had had in seeking the concealed document.

Knott grimaced and shook his head, indicating failure. Giroux nodded ever so slightly to show that he understood.

"Miss Soto Mayor has consented to go for drive with me," he said. "But she insists on a chaperon. She says it is not proper in her country for an unmarried girl to go out alone with a man."

"That is right," assented Racquel, gravely.

"So Stella, we will ask you to change into decent grb nd accompany us," continued Red Dan, grinning unctiously at Napoleon Knott. "How soon will you be ready to go, Miss?"

"First I am going to write a letter," Racquel replied. "In one hours I will be prepare. La duenna need not remain."

"Duenna," repeated Dn, grinning and looking at Knott. "I guess that means you. Very well. Until 2 o'clock, Senorita."

With a formal bow Red Dan made his exit, preceded by Tootles, and closed the door after them.

"She's a queen, Toady," he exclaimed, as they walked down the stairs. "I'm going to play her along easy. You can't rush a girl like that. But give me a week and I'll have her. I'd rather have that kid than all the gold in the earth."

"I never heard of this bird Carillo," declared Buzz Hewitt. "And I've known all the wise guys aroun here for twenty years. According to the dope in that paper, Carillo was a highway bum who had to have a lot of help to pull a stickup job."

"Looks like a false alarm to me," declared Slippery Izzy, rising. "If I don't reef a kick before tomorrow I'll be taking the bankruptcy cure. Outside for me." And suiting action to his words, he walked away, brushing down his clothes, adjusting his tie nd combing his hair with his fingers.

"This Carillo musta have been a funny crook to hide away gold," commented Cynthia McIntosh. "Most of the hame I know spend their jack before they get it. I never knew a strongarm guy yet that could hold onto a ten spot long enough to let it cool off."

"I'll confess that I am completely at loss as to the meaning of this manuscript," declared Girard P. Gleeason, folding up the paper, which he had finished reading. "What do you fellows say?"

He looked over the crowd but received no encouragement. The Angel was manicuring her nails and applying rouge judiciously, preparatory to going with "Monkey Face" on a adger game. Gorilla was chewing on a bone, the remnant of a luncheon that had been served to the gang on trays. Slugger Wilson played with a loaded blackjack while Hoppy Andrews was entirely absorbed in the contents of a hypodermic needle, the point of which he had inserted in his leg.

"Dat's a fairy story for de kids," asserted Eddy the Torch. "Whaddo we care who robbed the whiskerinos in '49? Come on Bob, let's go out and line up something for tonight."

"I ain't gonna stir outa this dump," declared Bob. "That last croak, do one pulled on Knott, has got the dicks and harness bulls so noivous dere vaggin' everyody on the street except the dudes."

Dan stepped forward before the controversy could go further and took the manuscript from Gleeson, folded it out carefully, noted that the pages were in order and handed it to Knott.

"You better read that over, Stella," he said. "Let us have the benefit of your gigantic intellect." He turned to the others, who became suddenly active under the sharp scrutiny of the alert master criminal.

"What do you make of this thing, boys" he asked.

No one answered. They were willing enough to speak disparagingly of Dan's latest tip in his supposed absence, but they were not so desirous of offending him personally. Gleeson alone was unaffected by the august presence.

"My perusal of the rdocument has been fruitless," he said, tapping a cigarette on his gold engraved case. His white hand, fingers studded with diamonds, swept outward in a theatrical gesture. Gleeson had to play-act, even among his associates. "That manuscript is hoary with age. I can't see the connection between a Mex andit seventy-five years ago and Girard P. Gleeson in this year of our Lord 1923.

"I never even heard of the places mentioned in it. I made a list of some of them—Squatterville, Nigger Corners, Oroysom, Higuera, San Anton, Alisal, Rancho Pocitas, Hacienda de Amador—I know this county and I know the state pretty well but those names are posers for me. Yet this bird seems to have cavorted around the San Francisco bay region at that.

"I think it is a waste of time to fool with it."

Red Dan swept a look at the faces of the others. That one glance assured him that they were in accord with the confidence man.

"Gleeson's handin' it to you straight," admitted John Swart, alias the Rod. "It's a fairy tale. Somebuddy slipped yu sumpin'. They ain't a tip in it. Who wished it on you?"

Dan walked to the fireplace, threw away his cigar and then gazed at the tow headed, wrinkled faced man with the dark eyebrows and the colorless eyes. This fellow had taken no part in the conversation. Instead he appeared to be distraught, as if he had a great weight on his mind.

"Do not be downhearted, Gus," advised the boss. "I'll send you to the beaches for a rest, to pull you out of the dumps."

"I'll ferget it in a day or so, Dan," he said, in a weak monotone. "I'll ferget it."

And in that moment Napoleon Knott realized that this nondescript creature must be the assassin who had tried to shoot him to death. He had noted the furtive manner of the man when Dan had mentioned Knott's demise. Gus' own words confirmed the belief.

A sense of triumph welled up in the fat detective. In a few hours' time he had gained information that would have required weeks of research to secure in any other way.

Dan was talkng about the treasure agan:

"I read the thng myself," he contnued, "I confess t looks lke a false lead. My hope was that one of you gentlemen mght be able to solve the puzzle nl it if there is one. The police have been riding you pretty hard. Last week Joe Alfredi took the fall. And the week before that they hanged Pete Fagundos for the Kelsner murder. There's not one ofw you except Gus, who could walk down to the detective bureau and come out again without a tag. The prosperity of the old days has van-

"We need some new blood and new money.

"Now there is something queer about this document, the Story of Joaquin Carillo. It don't seem to tell anything and yet this private detective, Stone, stole it from old Felipe Ramon and before that, someone wanted it mad enough to torture the poor devil by burning his feet to make him tell where it was hidden."

Dan looked toward Knott who was squatted by the fire, reading intently. He smiled a bit sarcastically.

"Perhaps Stella will solve the enigma," he suggested, and everyone laughed. Chicago Slim pushed Knott, nearly overturning him, whereupon the mirth increased.

It was the signal for a general outbreak of hilarity at the expense of the unfortunate Toad. The loathing that these men held for the husband-killer was manifest.

Knott rose in alarm. Chicago Slim held him by the arm. The Slugger was advancing gleefully. In another moment Tootles knew that he would be uncovered unless he stopped this demonstration.

"Take off them specs," commanded Wilson.

Knott yanked away from Slim and retreated toward Red Dan. He crouched, showing his teeth savagely, snarling like an animal. Slim and the Slugger ran up to him, while the others shouted approval.

Tootles could not repress a thrill at the situation. What a sensation his unmasking would produce! If these crooks tore off his disguise they would see the ghost of a dead man standing among them. At least they supposed him to be dead. But their consternation would be followed by sure vengeance. Several of them were desperate criminals wanted for murder, while the others were subject to warrants for lesser crimes.

Napoleon Knott was armed but he would be unable to fight his way out, even if he blew the police whistle that would bring Stone to his assistance. He might get the drop on these men, hold them up and force Red Dan to cover his retreat. Criminals would surround him if he left the place. Someone would shoot him in the back. If he chanced to get outside the walls he would be followed. Gunmen would pick him off on the street from upper story windows.

He turned to Red Dan, who was looking on in amusement.

"What'll we do to her?" he asked, appealing to the others for inspiration.

"Make her dance l'apache," suggested Shover Stratton.

Red Dan stepped close and held out his hand.

Knott's eyes followed the manuscript. Slim's hand reached out to get his spectacles, but he pulled back his head.

"Cut this out," he shrilled. "I'm gonna spiel about this Carillo bird. I got his number, Dan. You better listen to me."

Dan, who was walking over to Gus, turned around. Slim and the slugger ceased to tussle with their prisoner but maintained their hold.

"Everybody uiet," commanded Dan. "What are the glad tidings Toady? "If you're stalling, I pity you, young lady."

"You better make good," threatened the Slugger.

Napoleon Knott looked arounr the group at the faces, suspicious, malignant, full of hate for the murderess they supposed him to be. He knew then that he could not evade them. He must prove ished.

every word that he was about to say even though it would give them information that would restore their interest in the treasure hunting mystery.

"I'll wise you to this Cabrillo," he repeated, speaking in the grating, whiny voice that was affected by Stella York as a disguise. You'll all know him when I say his name."

The STORY of JACKIE COOGAN

As Told By His Mother

To ze reader

Is Papa "Severe?"

The episode of the palmed dime was one of several absurd things Jackie managed to do "to gum the works," as Joe, the property man, puts it. I suppose Jackie was tiring of the indoor scenes which form the latter part of the new picture and beginning to dream of the camping trip to follow. Anyhow, occasional flashes of "temperament" burst out and it took patience on the part of everybody to get through the day's work sevenely.

One morning they were re-taking a scene in the great throne room of the palace. The chancellor is supposed to read a long proclamation about the affairs of the realm, which is so boresome that the small prince goes to sleep.

Up to this point the scene had gone well. The lights were blazing away, the cameras turning, the actors going smoothly through their parts.

"Daddy, dear!"

Everybody started in amazement. Jackie knows better than to interrupt a big scene.

From my place at the back of the huge room I peered at my son. His father stared, startled and annoyed. Mr. Schertzinger, the director, snatched up his megaphone.

"Kill your spots!" he bawled to the electricians. "Save your lights!" And out went the big Kleigs and sun-arcs and Cooper-Hewitts, while everybody looked at everybody else in surprise.

"Nowk, sir," said Mr. Coogan, forgetting the royal purple carpet as he hurried down it toward the youngster, "what's the big idea?"

"My feet hurt," complained the "prince," his face screwed into a knot. "These boots are too tight. I can't go to sleep with my feet hurting." He held aloft the offending articles and waved a very unroyal looking pair of feet in striped socks.

The roomful of "ambassadors" and "royalty" put up hasty hands hands to hide their smiles. The director slammed his cap on the floor with a muttered, "Can you beat it?" Cameramen turned their backs to grin.

But I was worried. Mr. Coogan is a stickler for discipline and stands no nonsense. I know he never punishes or rebukes Jackie without excellent cause, but people sometimes call him "severe" and I hate to have him misunderstood.

I held my breath. Mr. Coogan, hands on hips and hat tilted back, regarded his son earnestly a moment, then picked him up in his arms and carried him back along the purple carpet to where I was sitting behind the cameras.

"Poor little imp," said he, "you can't blame him if his feet hurt. I guess these boots are uncomfortable. Tell you what, son," he went on, examining the high patent leather affairs critically, "suppose I cut some holes in them and let the air in? That'll make them more endufrable, hey?"

And before I could protest against such a piece of extravagance he whipped out his pocketknife and slit the boots.

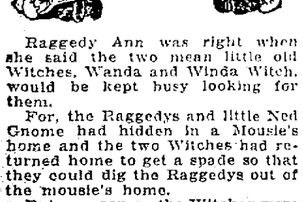

"Gee, that's great, Daddy, dear," said Jackie, stamping into his footgear again. "Now, Mrw. Mr. Schertzinger"—he turned with a bow to the director—"we'll do that scene again!"

The Adventures of Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy

by Johnny Gruelle

Copyright by JOHNNY GRUELLE. All Rights Reserved.

Raggedy Ann was right when she said the two mean little old Witches, Wanda and Winda Witch, would be kept busy looking for them.

For, the Raggedys and little Ned Gnome had hidden in a Mousie's home and the two Witches had returned home to get a spade so that they could dig the Raggedys out of the mousie's home.

But, as soon as the Witches were out of sight Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy and little Ned Gnome came up out of the Mousie's home and had run away to hide some other place. But, before they left, Raggedy Ann had wished for the Mousie's home to become invisible to the Witches.

So when the two Witches again came up to where they had found the Mousie's home before, they could see nothing but the bare ground.

"No! You are wrong!" Wanda Witch replied, "We will find it over there, for I remember it was right beside that little stone!"

So the two mean little Witches quarreled and quarreled until they cried.

And, the more they cried, of course, the harder it was for them to find the Mousie's home.

When, after they had cried until their noses were red, Winda Witch said, "Sister Winda Witch, let us get out our magic charms and charm the Mousie's home so that we can see it!"

Winda Witch had found a new magical charm. It was a nut off of a bicycle and was nickel-plated and very shiny. So the two Witches drew a ring upon the ground and danced about their charms and in a few minutes they could see the Mousie's home.

"Aha!" Wanda Witch cried, when the Mousie's home appeared, "Now we can catch Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy and Little Ned Gnome, for they are down in the Mousie's home and, of course are very small!" So she and Winda Witch knelt down upon the ground to peep into the Mousie's home.

And when they did this, of course their long noses stuck right into the Mousie's living room. Mrs. Marandie Mouse was just dusting the furniture when she saw the long noses of the Witches come into her front door.

"Hello!" Mrs. Marandie Mouse squeaked in mousie language. "The Raggedys have sent me two long red sausages as a present. I will just nibble both to see which is the better!" And she did.

My, how the two Witches howled when Mrs. Marandie Mouse nibbled their noses. They jumped to their feet and ran for their flying broom. Then jumping upon it, they flew to their home as fast as the flying broom would carry them.

"It was Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy!" the two Witches said, when they had wrapped their noses in vinegar and brown paper. "And as soon as our noses quit smarting we will take the spade and go backk to the Mousie's home and dig them out!" But all this time the Raggedys and little Ned Gnome were at a place where ice cream cones hung upon bushes like candles on a Christmas tree and had forgotten all about the two mean little old Witches.

A Feminine Dictionary — Dorothy Dix — Defines Terms From Woman's Angle

(Copyright, 1923)

The Feminine Slant Given to Some Familiar Terms Requires a Female Interpreter —And Dorothy Dix Undertakes the Job

IN JAPAN they have a woman's language which is entirely different from that which men use in speaking to each other.

Same here, for although women use the same words that men use, they give a different meaning to them.

So far, we have had no female lexicographer, but when a Mrs. Noah Webster arises in our midst and compiles a dictionary it will run something like this:

NICE—An Adjective that damns with faint praise.

You say a woman is nice when you mean that she hasn't got a single charm of mind or body that makes you afraid of her. It's NICE girls that you invite to the house when your grown son is at home or your bachelor brother comes to see you, and it's your NICE women friends that you ask to go along on an automobile trip with your husband. NICE is also a hair-pulling word between women. To be called NICE is a more deadly insult than to be called a hussy.

SWEET—Dull. Stupid. Boring. Utterly pepless. The thing you say about a person or thing when politeness or policy prevents you from expressing your real opinion.

"She is such a SWEET girl" is what you say to a boy when you are trying to make him dance with a girl who wears high-necked dresses, and thick stockings, and flannel underwear in winter, and whose mother takes her to parties where she papers the wall. SWEET is the adjective you apply to the hats and dresses that your friends have made themselves, and that look it.

SYMPATHY—The ability to shed barrels of tears.

Any woman who can turn on the waterworks at a moment's notice and flood the place over a dead cat or a sick canary bird is SYMPATHETIC. SYMPATHY does not involve the alleviation of misery. A woman will be spoken of by other women as sympathetic because she weeps over the hard lot of the poor widow with nine children whom she is evicting for nonpayment of her rent.

RELIGION—Orthodoxy.

Thinking it wicked to question the teachings of the church. Has nothing whatever to do with one's daily conduct.

FAITH—The ability to believe things that you know are not true.

LOVE—The sentiment you feel toward people that gives you the right to treat them as badly as you please, and that excuses you for using toward them any of the considerations that you would show to a casual stranger.

If a woman LOVES her husband she feels that her affection for him atones for her being a poor housekeeper, a thriftless manager, going slovenly around the house, and enforcing a ball-and-chain slavery upon him. If a woman LOVES her children she feels that they belong body and soul, and that she has the right to tyrannize over them much as she likes.

NAGGING—The way in which a woman expresses her love.

When a woman quits fretting at her husband about everything he eats, and drinks, and smokes, and does, and treats him as if he was a person of human intelligence, she has ceased to care for him.

A GOOD HUSBAND—A man who makes unlimited money which he turns over to his wife, and who never interferes with anything she wants to do.

AN IDEAL HUSBAND—A man who is a cross between a moving-picture hero and a prize fighter.

A man who is very handsome but who never notices any woman but his wife. A man who is hard as steel to the balance of the world but clay in his wife's hand. A man who tells his wife every day that she grows younger and more beautiful, and takes an interest in holding her hand after they have been married for thirty years.

NEGLECT—Failure to pay compliments and take a wife out to places of amusement.

A man may wok his fingers to the bone to give his wife luxuries, and be as domestic as the house cat, but if he does not notice what she has on, and jolly her, and gad around with her, she will weep tears of self-pity over being a poor, neglected wife.

BEING A GOOD WIFE—To love a man well enough to die for him, even if you make him so miserable that he will be glad to die to get away from you.

Being so tender to your children that you cannot correct their faults, or force them to control themselves, or do anything that they do not want to do. The woman's alibi for raising up drunkards and thieves and wastrels.

A GOOD FRIEND—One who feels that it is her sacred duty to tell you all the things about yourself that you do not want to hear.

One who reminds you of your birthdays, and warns you against putting on any more fat, and tells you that your frock is too young for you. Most women get rid of their GOOD FRIENDS by the time they begin to henna their hair and use mud packs on their faces.

A GOOD PLAY—A sob drama where you can enjoy a couple of hours of uninterrupted weeping over the imaginary sorrows of imaginary people.

IN-LAWS—Hereditary foes. People that you hate, sight unseen.

LIFE—A deal in which woman always gets the hot end.

Fred was 5 years old, and his mother was making him some new summer suits.

"I wish you'd make me some regular pants, that aren't hooked onto the shirt, and that have pockets and everything," Fred complained.

"But you're too little for that kind of pants yet," his mother protested. "And, anyway, you don't need any pockets. What would you do with pockets if you had them?"

"Well," he replied, "I think I'm just naturally getting big enough to have a place to park my hands."

"I am terribly annoyed, sir, Yesterday I asked your daughter to be my wife." "Yes—what about it?" Well, it's this way. I am quite unable to remember whether she said yes or no."

GERALDINE FASHIONS THE HOME

My Marriage Problems
- Adele Garrison's New Phase of Revelations of a Wife

THE MUSIC TO WHICH DICKY CAME HOME TO MADGE AND CLAIRE.

"What's the matter?" Claire Foster asked, as I stood staring at the open kitchen cupboard in the Bliss apartment. "You look as if you'd just remembered an appointment at the dentist's."

I wanted to retort that I felt as if I had just completed the appointment. Instead, I waved my hand toward the fragile, exquisite glass and china upon the upper shelves of the cupboard.

"There's reason enough for any housewife's dismay," I said. "There isn't a common dish in the place. I can't use those. uppose I should break them?"

She reached up a negligent hand, took down one of the cups and held it out to me gingerly.

"I suppose that's some more beloved old stuff," she said, a note of good-humored contempt in her voice.

I took it from her carefully, and looked it over, a charming thing of ancient vintage, incongruous enough in this prosaic New York apartment house. It belonged with lofty pannelled rooms in stately old houses such as that of Aunt Dora Paige, where I had witnessed Leila Fairfax's marriage to Alfred Durkee.

FLIPPANT PHILOSOPHY.

Somewhere in my mental reference file was an item to the effect that Dicky once had spoken of little Mrs. Bliss as belonging to an old New Orleans family, and the piece of china confirmed the memory.

"It is indeed,' I said, putting it reverently back in the closet.

"Do you mean to tell me that any sane woman uses those dishes every day, and takes care of them herself?" Claire demanded neredulously.

"They belong on the shelves with the china, then," she retorted. "Is everything old up there?"

"No, but it5s all unusually good—and rare," I answered. "Tomorrow I shall go to the nearest five and ten and buy some dishes to use while we are here."

"And until then, don't eat your heart out if something should be broken," she said flippantly. "There's nothing in the world which can't be paid for."

"MAKE YOURSELF AT HOME."

"Is that your philosophy?" The query sprang involuntarily from my lips, and the next second I was ashamed of having said it. To cover it, I muttered something nervously about making out the grocery list, and began looking through the cans of supplies left by the mistress of the little apartment.

I paid tribute to her thriftiness and management as I did so. Except for staple groceries which would not deteriorate in her absence of a month, her cans were practically empty. There was enough coffee for one making, the same amount of tea, small amounts of sugar, salt, pepper, spices, and small amounts of cleaning powders.

With the certaink knowledge that Dicky would be sulky in proportion to the amount of shopping he had to do, I resolved to use the supplies I found, all of which were of standard brands, to be found in any good store, and to replace them with good measure when I left.

I put down on the list for Dicky only the things for the morning's breakfast, fruit, cereal, butter, bacon, eggs, and an order for morning cream, rolls and ice. While I thus busied myself Claire, who had pretended not to hear my query as to her philosophy, prowled around the apartment, handling the books and small articles of bric-a-brac with a freedom and carelessness that made me exceedingly nervous.

She finished her peregrinations at the phonograph, where she put on a record which I recognized as one of the highest priced ones. Dicky came in as the strains of a really wonderful 'cello solo sounded through the room.

"Making yourself at home, I see," he said, as he shrugged out of his top coat.

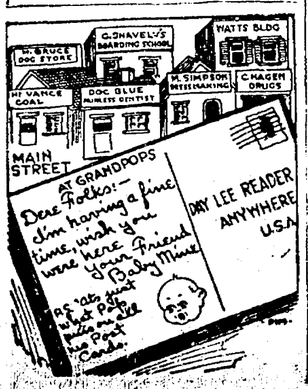

"I always do," she retorted. "Police! But that thing's slow! I'm going to quicken it.

Without lifting the needle, she swiftly drew back the lever regulating the speed. There was a grating sound, and Dicky and I gave a simultaneous gasp of dismay. He sprang forward, lifted the needle, and stopped the machine.

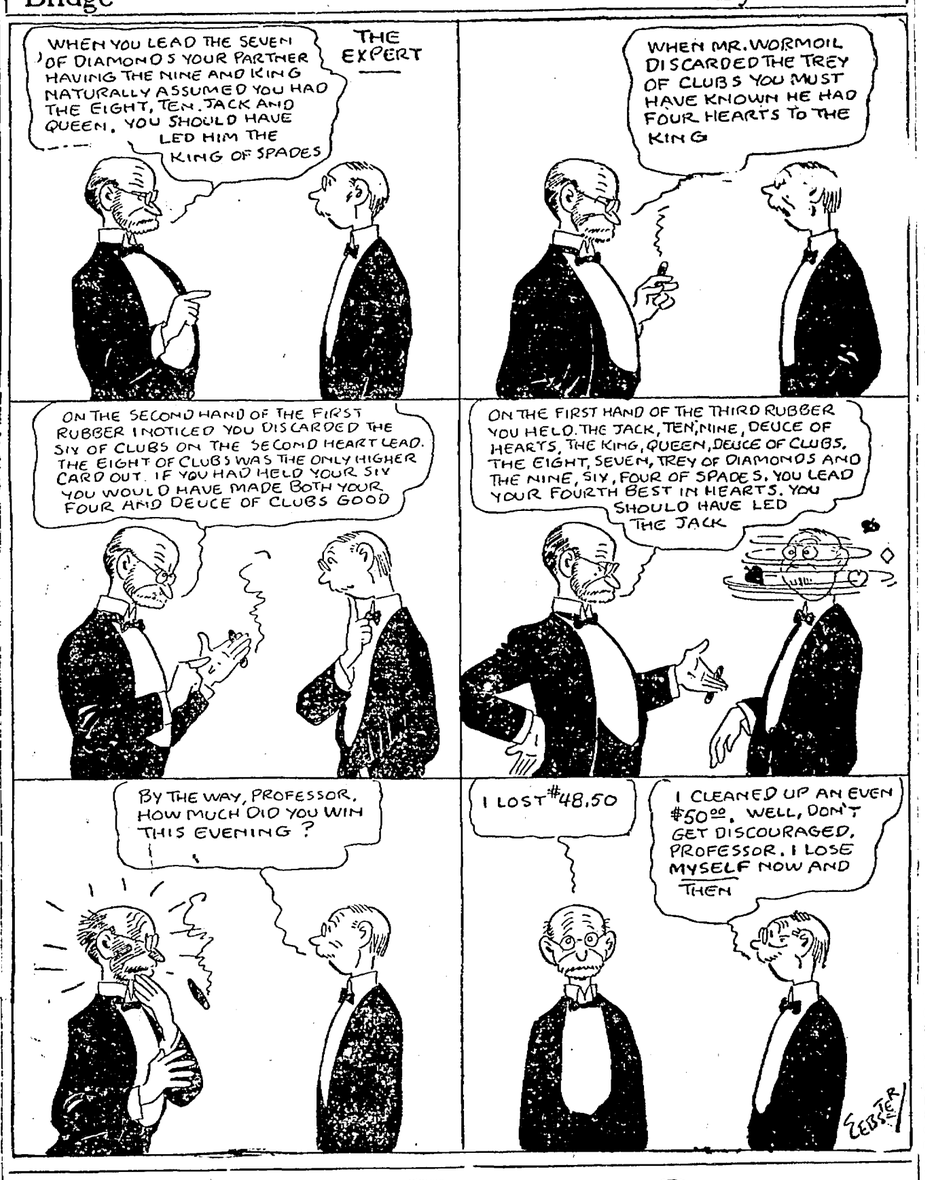

I waited tensely to hear what he would say, for I knew that she had run counter to two of his most pronounced prejudices—against interfering with the mechanism of a phonograph, and against making free with possessions not one's own.

"Baby Mine"

Bridge — By Webster

Uncle Wiggily
by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE PEACH.
By HOWARD R. GARIS.

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping far, far away from his hollow stump bungalow, looking for an adventure, the rabbit gentleman heard a rustling in the bushes.

"Oh ho!" whispered Mr. Longears to himself. "Perhaps that is some bad animal coming out to nibble my ears! I must be careful."

"Hello in there, whoever you are?" cried the bunny rabbit uncle. "Come out and show yourself! You can't scare me!"

Then the bushes rustled again and out came—Tommy Kat, the pussy boy.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I thought you might be the Fuzzy Fox or the Woozie Wolf."

"Well, I'm glad I'm neither one," mewed Tommie Kat, who was carrying something in one paw.

"I'm glad, also," said Uncle Wiggily. "But what have you there, Tommie, my boy?" asked Mr. Longears. "Have you been picking apples off a mulberry bush?"

"No," laughed the pussy cat chap, "but I picked a peach off a peach tree, and I'm taking it home to my sister Kittie who is ill."

"That is very kind of you," spoke Uncle Wiggily. "I'll walk along with you while you take the peach to your sister. And, when I get to your house I'll tell her a little bedtime story to make her laugh."

"That will be fun," mewed Tommie Kat. "And, may I also listen to the story?"

"Oh, yes," answered Uncle Wiggily.

Then he and Tommie went along together, over the fields and through the woods. They were almost at Tommie's house, and Uncle Wiggily was thinking up a story to tell Kittie when all of a sudden, there was another rustling in the bushes.

'Hello!" whispered Uncle Wiggily. "Some one is there! Do you suppose it could be your brother Joie, or your sister Kittie?"

"No," mewed Tommie, "Kittie is ill and Joie has gone to my Grandma's."

"Then, perhaps, this is the Woozie Wolf or the Fuzzy Fox," said Uncle Wiggily, "so we must be careful. Hide down behind this log with me, Tommie, and I'll find out who is rustling the bushes."

So the rabbit gentleman and the little pussy cat boy hid down behind the log and then Uncle Wiggily, looking slyly over the top of the fallen tree, called

"Come out! Come out! Whoever you are, come out, you Woozie Wolf!"

But no Woozie Wolf came out.

"Come out! Come out! Whoever you are, come out, you Fuzzy Fox!" cried Uncle Wiggily.

But no Fuzzy Fox came out.

"Come out! Come out! Whoever you are, come out, you Bob Cat!" called Uncle Wiggily, and out came the Bob Cat.

"Oh, what shall we do?" mewed Tommie. "The Bob Cat will nibble my ears and yours, too." And so he would, for a Bob Cat is a Lynx, you know.

"Maybe we can fool the Bob Cat," said Uncle Wiggily, and then Tommie cat thought of a plan.

"I'll offer him half of Kittie's peach to let us go," said the pussy boy. So he called over the top of the log: "Will you let us go for half a peach, Mr. Bob Cat?"

"Maybe," yowled the Bob Cat. "Toss me half the peach." So Tommy tossed half the nice peach over the top ofthe log. But after the Bob Cat had eaten it he growled: "No, I'll not let you go unless you give me the other half of the peach!" So Tommie tossed over the second half. But after the Bob Cat had eaten that he cried: "I'll not let you go unless you give me another peach!"

"I haven't another peach! What shall I do?" asked Tommie of Uncle Wiggily.

"Here, give me the stone from the peach," whispered the rabbit. He threw the peach stone at the Bob Cat. "Bang!" it hit him on the nose.

"Oh, wowghle wow!" howled the Bob Cat. "Oh, my nose!" And then he ran away and Uncle Wiggily and Tommie could come out. The bunny bought another peach for Kittie Kat, who was soon made well. And how she laughed when Mr. Longears told about hitting the Bob Cat on the nose!

And, if the kitchen chair doesn't go in the parlor when the piano has company, and stand upon its hind legs, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the Apple Bug.

COSTLY REVENGE.

Bill Bunker kicked—
My lop-eared hound—
Right in the middle of July—
I surely thought that pup would die—
It mattered not what he was worth—
Nor that he was no good on earth—
Still I was sore—
And longed to drink of old Bill's gore—
For I remembered well the day—
That Bill called me a blooming nut—
And shouted loud with reddened face—
"Of boneheads you are nothing but."
So my grouch was no pasing whim—
I swore to have the law on him—
That very day I went down town—
And saw old shyster lawyer Brown—
With angered voice I told my tale—
He said he's soon have Bill in jail—
I yelled—"Hoo-ray—he has no wife—
There let him tarry all his life"—
Brown cleared his throat—used legal tones—
"This case will cost you fifty bones"—
So I dug up my fifty men—
And brought it up to old Brown's den—
Then he went out to see the Judge—
Soon coming back gave me a nudge—
And whispered—"soon—upon the morrow—
Old Bill will gnash his teeth in sorrow—
Next day Bill stood before the Judge—
My lawyer once more gave a nudge—
For Bill's face proved that he held fears—
That he might get some fifty years.
The Judge scratched long upon a pad—
Then in a voice that sounded sad—
Said with a most judicial bow—
"I'll hear this case six months from now"—
Six long and weary months dragged by—
Each day that came brought me a sigh—
Then once more as I had before—
I stepped within the Judge's door—
Bill Bunker sat there smiling wide—
My lawyer spoke—the Judge replied—
"My docket's filled—it's a disgrace—
One year from now I'll hear this case."
The year rolled by as all years do—
My will was still as firm as glue—
And so one day with lips quite pale—
Before that Judge I told my tale—
The judge's eyes brought me no bliss—
He said—"This case I will dismiss."
Bill Bunker stood and thanked the Judge—
And pasing me gave me a nudge—
I softly cussed this grinning yap—
And longed to knock him off the map—
He'd kicked my dog—he'd hurt my pride—
And cost me fifty bones beside—
Just then the bailiff brought my dog—
Emitting yelps and hollers—
They saw he had no license on—

The Why of Superstitions
H. Irving King

EYEBRIGHT.

That lowly plant, the eyebright, which learned people the euphrasia, was formerly very popular in this country as a cure for weak eyes, styes, etc., and in the rural districts it will be found still to occupy a place of consideration in folk-medicine. In Europe it is a popular remedy for all diseases of the eye, even as it is here.

Its reputation is an inheritance from past ages and originated in the "doctrine of signatures"—that form of primitive, sympathetic magic which, as man advanced in civilization, became a medical theory—the theory that every plant had a "signature" which indicated for what medical purpose it was intended to be used.

The eyebright has in its corolla a black, pupil-like spot suggesting the pupil of the eye. Therefore it is good for diseases of the eye. In olden times the eyebright was supposed not only to be "good for sore eyes" but to confer, also, upon both the mental and the physical eye greatly increased powers of perception. Milton represents the eyes of Adam as being "purged with euphrasy" for he had much to see," and Spencer speaks of the plant as giving dim eyes power to "wander leagues around," while Thompson asks Urania to purge away with eyebright "the mists which dim the mirror of the mind."

Listen, World!

WHY do we blame everything on marriage? Why make matrimony responsible for all that cussedness which would exist were the participants still bachelor and spinster? We talk much about "training people for marriage"—how about training them for the more general job of living? Marriage doesn't visit strange plagues upon us. It merely brings out all the beauty or meanness which may inhabit us. And if marriage didn't bring them out, something else would.

Take Daisy and Paxton, for instance. Mentally, Daisy is about a nickle's worth of nothing. As an eye balm she's worth a million. Never were more alluring physical accessories wrapped around a vacuum. To look at Daisy is to glimpse Paradise. But to live with Daisy is to wonder what chances you'll have with a well-selected jury on a charge of first degree murder.

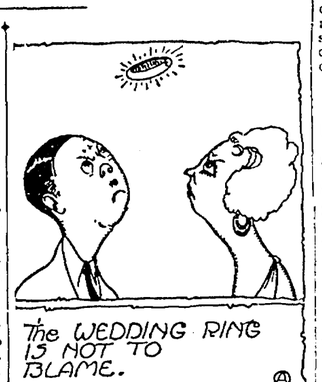

On the other hand, Paxton is The Human Paper Weight. Prudish, pompous, peevish. He has all the winsome charm of a steam roller. When he first met Daisy she called him a Great Big Wonderful Man. Which corresponded so exactly with what Paxton thought of himself that he immediately bought the ring and has regretted it ever after. They lead a wretched existence and of course he blames it on marriage. But why?

Paxton's personality would have wrecked any association into which he might have entered. That boy couldn't have operated a peanut stand with any degree of success. He'll be just about as popular as an epidemic of mumps wherever he goes. And Daisy's silliness and selfishness will bring upon her the same measure of contempt which she now resents in marriage. She may have a dozen divorces and a dozen new husbands—the result will be the same. And that result is in no way the fault of the marriage estate.

There is no mysterious alchemy in marriage which transmutes the quality of human character. Mankind has tried a thousand styles of marriage laws, and will doubtless try a thousand more, but human misery and bliss will still be produced in the same proportion.

Lax marriage laws, strict marriage laws, or no marriage laws at all will make no difference in the situation. Your married state is simply a reflection of your personal condition. You carry yourself with you, married or single, to your certain weal or woe.

Friend William Mac Inlae thinks WOMAN is making a horrible mistake in leaving her ancient sphere and competing industrially with MAN. He doesn't seem to quite realize that she may be forced to leave it—that Man's inability or unwillingness to pay her bills may be the determining factor in that transition. He thinks it's a dreadful blunder and has told us so in two very interesting letters. And now comes one of these naughty truant ladies to speak for herself.

Dear Jerry:—

Have just read today's article by William Mac Inlae. This gentleman has surely given a great deal of thought to the subject of competition but honestly I do not admire his ideas. Aren't they rather narrow? No matter how sincere he is, it seems to me he hasn't arrived at a satisfactory decision, even for himself.

As Mr. MacInlae is a male being himself, he has the privilege of telling from experience, perhaps, of the reactions upon other males. However, not being a woman, nor knowing woman's inmost desires and ideals, how dare he presume to tell us what we are or wish to be?

To quote Mr. McInlae, "Every normal and clean thoughted man has a dream, a dream of a home. It is the highest and noblest of all his dreams. If woman, by her rebellion to home duties, enters his field and destroys that dream, has she any right to deplore a reaction in his thoughts toward her?"

Now Mr. MacInlae, I don't believe you are quite fair. What about the normal woman's dreams of a home and little children to live in that home? And look how many women have had their dreams and ideals crushed and destroyed by man! Or rather by so-called men! There are many reasons why woman chooses to enter the field of work outside the home. I know of some who were goaded beyond endurance by their husbands by such remarks as "What do YOU do? You have nothing to do but stay around the house all day. Pretty soft for you!"

One woman I know who had such a husband was the mother of two little children. After listening to his heartless remarks as long as she could, she took her children to her mother and went to work outsde. It just happened that she had a mother to help her when her husband failed her.

I believe that one reason why some married women work outside of the home is because they have such non-appreciative husbands. I KNOW of more than one myself. And as you say, Jerry, who will support these girls if they don't do it themselves. In olden times girls were expected to marry for support, not being trained to self-support as today. How much better it is now for a girl to know that she can support herself and need not marry until she wishes. Of course there are exceptions, I suppose there will always be, on both sides, male and female.

Now about that "superior idea stuff," it is absurd; as Jerry says, "Watch their smoke." Man is taught by woman from the cradle up and always will be, but the superior idea is only a very selfish narrow idea; there is no superior, for "one needs the other" as much as the "other needs the one," we are about fifty-fifty it seems to me.

Thanks a million, Pal. It seems to me that all this fuss against Woman's new status is as foolish as an attempt to stay the ordered journey of the stars. The world moves and humanity moves with it. It does not move through perversity but by some hidden but indomitable urge. You can't place the spirits of 1923 back into the customs of 1823. The whole social and industrial order of 1823 has been swept away. The woman who refuses to adapt herself to the change is about as silly as the mosquito who makes faces at the sun. Happy are those women who can still follow the old sweet course of sheltered domestic life.

But why rail against the thousands who, through pressure of circumstances, are denied that shelter? Friend William deplores the vast army of working girls. Who's going to pay their bills if they don't work? And if they are forced to work (as they are forced), why shouldn't they compete as men compete?

The old world thought that the noble order of gentlemen would be wrecked forever if those same gentlemen indulged in manual labor. For long generations that viewpoint prevailed and still prevails in many parts of the world. America was the first nation to break away from such a view point. We have found that our most honored gentlemen are our busiest workers.

With pitying, reverent hearts we sent to the White House with the printer's ink scarcely cleansed from his hands. Work and competition have not tarnished that fine composite which the world calls a GENTLEMAN, although until recently it was held in abhorrence. Why should it tarnish that spirit which complements his—the LADY? ?

A Mystery a Day
A series of perplexing cases that have withstood all efforts at solution

THE TRIAL OF LADY ALICE LISLE

Of all the cases tried by the court presided over by the infamous Chief Justice Baron Jeffreys of Wem—the court which was justly known as the Bloody Assizes—the most famous as well as the most unusual was the trial of the Lady Alice Lisle, the only women in English history condemned to death on the technical charge of having extended mercy to an enemy of the crown.

After the battle of Sedgemoor had been lost by James, Duke of Monmouth, a reign of terror spread over the western section of England, for the order had gone forth that all of James' supporters were to be hanged as soon as they were located.

Among those who escaped into Hampshire, thinking themselves safer in a county that didn't participate in the war, was a dissenting parson named George Hicks, who sought refuge at the estate of the Lady Alice Lisle and was discovered there by Colonel Peuruddock and his men. On the charge of having harbored enemies of the king, Lady Alice was herself arrested on August 27, 1685, and was brought to the bar of the court at Winchester upon a charge of high treason.

Demurely dressed in gray the white-haired old lady stood calmly before the Lord Chief Justice and confidently made her plea of "not guilty." The records of the trial show very clearly that the case was conducted along the lines of a court martial rather than that of a civic tribunal. Every witness who appeared for the defense was bullied and browbeaten, threatened and openly accused of treason and Lady Alice was forbidden counsel and informed that she would have to conduct her defense as she saw fit.

At the conclusion of the farce which passed for a trial, the Lord Chief Justice delivered a very lengthy and rambling charge to the jury, concluding with the virtual demand that the prisoner be found guilty and condemned to the most severe penalty. But, in spite of this, the jury remained out for such a length of time that Jeffreys sent word to them that unless they returned within the hour he would have them all clapped in irons. Naturally, a verdict of "guilty" was returned very shortly afterwards and after a fresh stream of invectives, Jeffreys sentenced Lady Alice to death upon the gallows, a decree which was carried out in spite of the fact that a petition signed with thousands of names was presented to the king on her behalf.

Back of the animosity shown to Lady Alice Lisle there undoubtedly lies a case of personal spite on the part of someone directly connected with the trial—but who this was, or the reason for it, remains one of the unsolved mysteries of British legal annals.

SMILES

Sensible Man—If she gets the hat, there'll be the milliner to pay. If she doesnt' get it, there'll be the devil to pay. Of the two, I guess the milliner is more likely to be the more reasonable.

"The Richleighs are going to camp out and take their servants along." "Yes; Mrs. Richleigh told me she wanted to get even with them for all the discomforts they caused her."

Bartender—Why don't you get out and hustle? Hard work never killed nobody. Mose Lazibones—Dat's an infernal lie, suh! I'se lost four wives dat way.

My Favorite Stories by Irvin S. Cobb

The Matrimonial Shopper.

My friend, V. V. McNitt, head of the syndicate which is circulating these stories, is himself of Scotch ancestry and he is responsible for this story of a man from the land of his forbears.

A young Scotchman, methodical, painstaking and sincere, as so many of his race are, had been a bachelor of long-standing. Since coming to this country he had saved his money until now he felt he was qualified properly to support a domestic establishment. One day he went to a friend:

"I've about decided to get married," he said. "In fact, I'm looking around now for a wife."

"Where are you looking?" asked his friend.

"I'll tell you," said the Scot. "It's my belief that the girls who work as clerks in the big department stores here in New York, are mighty fine types. As a rule, they are well-dressed and tidy and good-looking and have nice ways. They must be self-reliant or they wouldn't be working. They have to be intelligent or they couldn't hold their jobs. They know how to make a dollar go a long distance or, they couldn't dress as well as they do on the modest wages most o fthem get.

My notion is this: On pretext of wanting to buy something, I am going to tour the big shops until I see a girl behind a counter who seems to fill my requirements. Then I'm going to find out her name and make private inquiries as to her character and disposition, and if she answers all the requirements I'll secure an introduction to her and if she seems to like me I'm going to ask her to marry me."

Six months went by. The cautious Scot and the man to whom he had confided his plan of campaign met again. The latter thought his friend looked rather careworn and unhappy. "How are you getting along?"

"Well," said the Scot, "I'm a married man, if that's what you mean."

"Well, did you follow the scheme you had in mind—I mean the one you told me about the last time I saw you?"

"Yes. I married a girl that worked at Macy's."

"Congratulations. How's everything getting along?"

The Scot fetched a small sigh, "Sometimes," he said, "I can't help thinking that maybe I might have done better at Gimbel's."

HELP FOR THE MAN WHO WANTS TO BUILD

INTERIOR FINISH VITAL POINT IN HOME BUILDING

The second of a number of articles to appear in this column on "The Woodwork and Interior Finish For Your Home" by The Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc.

If you have followed the articles appearing in this column, you have seen how the building of a home has been carried along from foundations through the framing and roofing, installation of pipes—plumbing, heating, and wiring—and how eventually the walls have been plastered up. If you should go into a building in this state of completion, you would find its appearance anything but promising. The rough flooring is more or less covered with plaster and debris; the odds and ends of the carpenter and mason work lie about in apparent confusion; and it seems often that nothing could come out of such disorder. But the work we are going to speak of now is the part that trims up the building—that transforms it from a piece of construction into a home.

Interior Finish Is Like Veneer

Interior finish is in many ways simply a veneer upon the substantial construction of the building. It is designed to cover up the rough edges, to make the building pleasant to look upon, easy to keep in fine condition, and to add to the comfort and convenience. The measure of your satisfaction in these things is going to be gauged by what kind of a job you get.

Wood is like a sponge. It absorbs water very rapidly. In absorbing this water it expands or swells. When it dries out again it contracts. Since this is true you will see that wood which is to be used for finishing must be contracted as much as possible, that when joints are made between pieces they will remain closed. So all interior woodwork has to be very carefully dried before it is brought into the building. This drying is done by artificial processes in a kiln. The wood is made very dry, indeed.

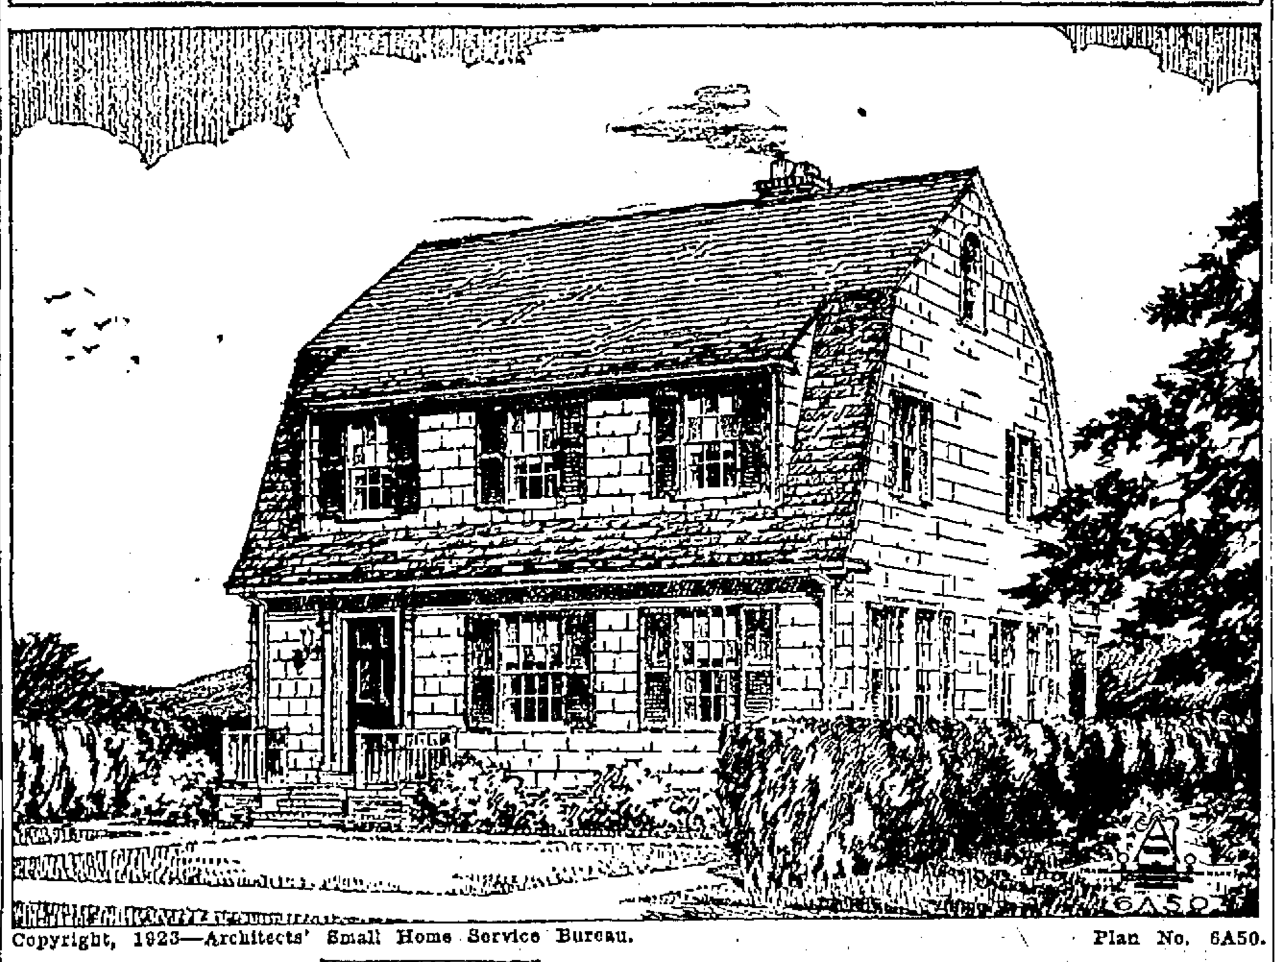

A good part of our effort in the drying of woodwork is lost if it is brought into the building when there is still much dampness about. It is an invariable rule with good builders not to bring in the doors, trim, and other parts of interior finish until after the building has been thoroughly dried out. This means that the building has to stand idle for some time after the plasterers have finished their work. You waste time and money by hurrying this process. Too rapid drying may crack the plaster and do other more serious damage to the framing. You had better make up your mind to mark time for a week or 10 days or even longer in damp weather.

Satisfaction From Tight Joints

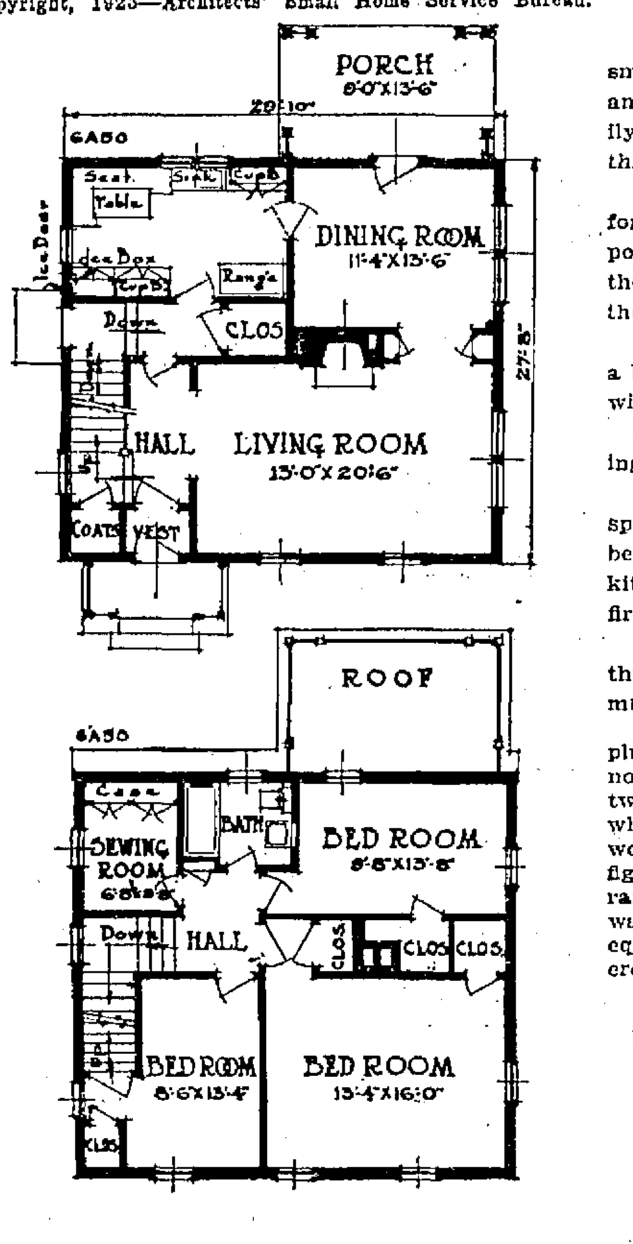

When the building is thoroughly dry the woodwork can be nailed in place, and the joints made very tight. If the wood should afterward absorb a little moisture and tend to expand somewhat, the effect would only be to make the joints tighter. The first principle then is a dry house and dry woodwork.

This leads us to the second principle of interior woodwork, namely, tight joints that will remain tight to be explained in the next article to appear in this column.—Copyright, 1923, the Home Builders' Clinic.

Copyright, 1923—Architects' Small House Service Bureau—Home Builders' Clinic.

If you are interested in building a home within small space and at the same time enjoying a large amount of accommodation, as well as extraordinarily fine appearance, you will be enthusiastic about this two story Dutch Colonial house.

It is 30 feet wide, 28 feet deep, and is planned for a 40 foot lot, with the porch at the rear. The porch can be placed at the side of the house if the home builder desires. A sleeping porch over the open porch is possible.

This design calls for frame construction, with a base course of cement, and exterior walls covered with wide siding or shingles, and shingled roof.

The house is designed for a west or south facing, but can be reversed for other facings.

The features of the house are compactness of space without cramping the living quarters; three bedrooms, each with cross ventilation, an attic, kitchen planned to include dining alcove, inside fireplace and seven closets.

As far as possible, stock materials are used, thus insuring the elimination of waste and minimum building costs.

The cost to build this house, including heating, plumbing, lighting, painting, ready to live in, but not including wall decorations, should range between $8,000 and $10,000. In certain localities where costs are high, the highest figure quoted would be too low. In other localities, the lowest figure quoted would be more than sufficient. The range of $2,000 is given to cover difference in the way the house is built, how thoroughly it is equipped and completed and in what district it is erected.

EDITOR'S NOTE—The plans for small homes are furnished by the Regional Bureaus of the Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., controlled by the American Institute of Architects, indorsed by the department of commerce, United States government. The estimated costs of construction are based on general average for the entire country. The United States bureau maintains an information department to answer home builders' questions. For information regarding the blue prints and specifications, which are supplied at moderate costs, address the Home Building Editor of this paper. Enclose selfaddressed envelope.

WHAT YOU MAY WANT TO KNOW ABOUT BUILDING

Questions addressed to the paper will be answered by the Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., controlled by the American Institute of Architects and indorsed by the department of commerce, United States government. Enclose selfaddressed envelope for reply.

Question—I have some Spar Varnish that has become thick and gummy. How can I thin this to make it usable?

Answer—Varnish can be thinned only by the addition of turpentine. It is best to have both the turpentine and the varnish warm while mixing them and to let the mixture stand over night before using it.

Q—Someone has told me that I can get a powdered paint that will be cheaper than ordinary paint. Can I use this for exterior work? Where can I obtain this and how is it mixed?

A—The paint you are inquiring about is socalled "water paint." It cannot be used for exterior work as it will wash off. Paints that are subjected to weathering must be mixed with a vehicle of oil. Water paints can be obtained in any paint shop.

Q—I would like to lay a new floor in the living room of my farmhouse. I need something that is durable because it has very hard usage and at the same time do not want to put a lot of money in the floor. What would you advise me to use?

A—The difference in cost between oak, maple, beech and birch for a small floor like this will not be great. Get your local lumber dealer to give you costs on the second quality of each and use the one you want. Use the wider widths.

Q—I have an old frame house that I believe would be improved in appearance if I had it covered with stucco. How should I go about it to do this? I would like to get out of it as cheaply as possible and still have a good job.

A—If the walls are not out of plumb you can metal lath them as they stand and apply stucco immediately. If you wish to straighten up any of the faces or to avoid any gingerbread work or other things of this kind, the walls should be stripped before lathing. Apply metal lath to the stripping. A little extra furring and lathing may change the whole character of your house without much expense.

A—The common hanging gutter is the most lasting and inexpensive that can be put on. If it is made of tin and it should happen to leak in time, it can easily be repaired or replaced. If it is made of copper, it may last a lifetime.

Q—What is the difference between hard and soft woods. Some woods known as soft seem to be quite hard?

A—Commercial classification distinguishes between hard and soft wood on the basis of whether or not the wood comes from evergreen trees. The evergreen trees bear soft woods and deciduous trees bear hard woods. The temper of the grain has nothing to do with the classification.

The Signpost of Health

STOP! LOOK! LISTEN!

Conducted by Oakland Health Center

STOP! Has Johnny a sore throat? Is little Mary hoarse and losing her voice? A bold, dark-banded invader is lurking about, waiting a chance to slip into Johnny's or Mary's throat, there to throw up a line of fortifications and storm the health fortress. His name is Bacillus Diphtheriae; autumn is his favorite hunting season; and this year he is unusually strong, dangerous and deadly.

How does he get in? By the airplane method, usually. He hides in the nose or throat of Johnny's playmate (who may have such a strong resistance that he cannot "take" diphtheria), and just as soon as any loud talking or sneezing takes place, this long, lean bacillus seizes the opportunity to ride on a droplet of moisture, and sails off through the air even as far as ten or twelve feet, perhaps straight up to Johnny's nose and is drawn in with his next breath right past the first line of defense onto unprotected throat territory. There he entrenches himself and sets to work on his deadly barrage.

Remember the poison gases sent out by the Germans that proved so disastrous to our men? Now bacillus diphtheria manufactures a poison that can out-do any mere man's poison, and off he sends it to blight every cell in the body, especially those of the most vulnerable spot, the heart; while he and his now-numerous followers remain hidden in the throat behind white or gray embankments. What about counter attacks to neutralize this deadly toxin? Yes, they are started at once. Chemicals are gathered together in the blood, an anti-toxin is formed and set loose to neutralize and thus render harmless the enemy's toxin. But unfortunately, this is a slow process, and we cannot afford to wait while John's heart cells, among others, may be destroyed. We should have a supply of this anti-toxin handy, bottled all ready for us; and this we actually can have.

LOOK! Our friend, the horse, has come to our rescue. Inject diphtheria toxin into his body by degrees, and month by month he will build up a stronger and more powerful antitoxin in his blood to neutralize the dreaded toxins. Some of this blood when drawn off, filtered, sterilized and stardardized, will contain all ready made the very antitoxins that will prevent Mary's voice cells from being paralyzed before her body has had a chance to put up a good fight. Or if a playmate of Mary's should develop a case of diphtheria, not only can the antitoxin be injected to fight her battle for her, but Mary, also, gets a dose that will fully arm her against this dreaded foe to whom she was exposed. What is more, this dose can do no harm to her. The harm is done when the dose is give so late that the diphtheria poisons have already destroyed too many cells of the heart or other parts of the body. The antitoxin itself cannot destroy cells; it is the diphtheria toxins that do the damage.

LISTEN! All sore throats are serious. Have them examined. A good doctor never decides about diphtheria by sight alone; he takes a culture from the nose and throat. Start treatment as soon as possible; a delay of twenty-four hours may be fatal. Diphtheria does not give as high a temperature as tonsillitis. Afterwards do not let Mary or Johnny exercise vigorously until the heart has had a chance to replace the destroyed cells, say for several months in a bad case.

Why not have Mary and Johnny tested by the Schick test to see if their blood already contains diphtheria antitoxins, and if not, have them given the simple toxin-anto-toxin treatment which will build up that resistance gradually? In the next article these two treatments will be explained.

STATUS OF CITY PHYSICIAN'S JOB MAY BE CHANGED

Commissioner Colbourn Is After Man With Time For Duties.

Although several applications have been received for the office of city physician, left vacant by the resignation of Dr. John T. Kergan, Commissioner Frank Colbourn today asserted that he will not be hasty about filling the position, because he is not sure that he might not change its status.

The position is a part-time job at present, with a salary of $200 per month. Colbourn asserts he will either demand regular office hours by the part-time city physician, or will seek some younger doctor without a practice, who can be anchored to the job all the time.

"I realize that we cannot ask a physician of repute to give all his time for $200 per month," says Colbourn, "but we can ask it he devote a certain specified time to the job and be on the job when he is wanted. Otherwise, we will be compelled to get some young medical student, just out of college, who is willing to begin his career in this way, although there are some drawbacks to employing a physician without experience.

"I am not going to be in a hurry about this thing. The city must have a physician, but I wish to get him on the best terms possible for the city."

Drill Absences Cost Guardsman 40 Days in Jail

Robert E. Wood, 23, a bricklayer, today was sentenced to forty days in the city prison by Police Judge Edward J. Tyrrell after he had been found guilty of failing to attend the weekly drill of the National Guard. He is also facing in the same court a second charge of failing to provide for his two minor children and will enter a plea on that charge tomorrow.

The evidence showed that Wood was a member of the Headquarters Detachment and Combat Train, 143d Field Artillery, and had attended only ten drills out of the last thirty-eight. He told the court when arrested last week that he was unable to attend the drills because he had to stay home with his wife and two children. The wife, Mary E. Wood, told Judge Tyrrell that he never was at home.

Saturday Mrs. Wood swore to a complaint charging him with failure to provide for his two minor children. She claims that, during the last three months, he gave her $10 for the support of the children and herself. The family reside at 2567 Grove street.

Recreation Site Will Be in Charge of One Man For Winter Months.

Jay Nash, head of the recreation department, returned today from the Tuolumne river, where he made arrangements to close the municipal camp on September 1, leaving only Charlie Christensen, the caretaker, to hold down the camp during the winter. All the other employees will leave August 31 in a big truck, and the thirty patrons now at the camp will depart by that time.

This year the camp closes two weeks later than usual, owing to its popularity.

Billy Beyers, ward of the municipal camp for the past two years, will not stay with Charlie Christensen this winter. Billy has "accepted a renumerative offer" from a vegetable man at Oakdale, and has started on his new career, which is expected to last until the fishing begins next spring.

How large is the San Pablo reservoir?

"How big is this San Pablo dam and reservoir anyway?" asked the Consumer of the East Bay Water Company as he stood on the 50-foot crest of San Pablo dam and gazed over the wide expanse of water.

These are the facts given him as to the size of both the dam and the reservoir.

"The dam on which you're standing is longer from wall to wall, and wider at the bottom than four ordinary city blocks. The 2,200,000 cubic yards of earth and rock contained in the dam would make more than 49 solid towers twice as high as the tallest office building in the East Bay section. You could drive seven automobiles abreast across the top of it.

"You could set Oakland City Hall down in the middle of this reservoir and water would come nearly half way up when it is full.

"The reservoir is four and a half miles long and will hold fourteen billion gallons of water—as much as people of the East Bay cities use in a year and a half at the present rate of consumption."

"And yet this enormous reservoir—equal in surface area to a ranch of 860 acres—is only one of many units in this gigantic plant which operates over 100 square milles of territory," he exclaimed as he climbed into his automobile.

Next week watch for an account of the Consumer's visit to a tunnel three miles long.
